Foreword

THE COMMUNION OF SAINTS, the Love of God over-flowing upon the members of the Mystical Body, is the idea of our yearbook.

During our early childhood, we learned about God and His Blessed Mother. Upon entering grade school, we learned about the Patron Saint of our Parish.

Because of our love for God, we wanted to imitate those who are so very close to Him . . . His saints.

Age, education, and social activities have heightened this desire for sanctity.

Today's standards seem to be measured on the scale of success. We know that if our lives are to be successful, we must become saints . . . for that is the real reason for our being.

REALIZING THE END of our aim and knowing that it is a day to day development, we have called our theme,

Saints in the Making.

Dedication

Carl Carlson

Most Reverend Karl J. Alter
Archbishop of Cincinnati

To Archbishop Karl J. Alter we dedicate our yearbook.

On the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the Priesthood, June 4; on his thirtieth year in the Episcopacy, June 17; and on the tenth anniversary of his coming to the See of Cincinnati, Sept. 26, we congratulate him.

For his interest in our city and his part in the erection of our new high school, we thank him.

For his leadership in planning the restoration and enlargement of St. Peter's Cathedral, we praise him.

For his work for the salvation of souls and the spreading of the Gospel of Christ, we revere him.

For you, Your Grace, we pray that God will grant you length of years to continue your glorious work and that we, your spiritual children, will attain that degree of sanctity for which we truly strive. Ad multos annos! Ecce Sacerdos Magnus!

Reverend Victor F. Ries

"May I have your attention, please?" These familiar words are spoken each day as the "Hail and Farewell" by Father Ries, administrator of Catholic Central High School.

Father Ries began his work as administrator in the fall of 1957, after twelve years of teaching mathematics and guidance at Elder High School, Cincinnati, Ohio. Father had much to do with the final work on the new high school building.

Father Ries is finishing his third year at CC. He is responsible for 628 high school students. The faculty is composed of six archdiocesan priests, eighteen Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati, and four lay teachers.

As administrator, Father maintains the position of friend, counselor, and priest.

High Times at Catholic Central in Nineteen Volumes

Let's make it twenty! This is the common agreement of the Spires Staff. Seated, Mary Groves, Deanna Juergens, John Van Velzor, Thomas Gnau, Theresa TenBarge, Mary K. Kuss, co-editor. Standing, Rosemary Sadlier, Rosalind Groeber, Jean Dettenwanger, co-editor, Kathleen Hackett, Sharon Rogers, Sandra Pulaski, Mary Ann Carder, Marilyn Laihr, Martha Brown, Mariann Esposito, and Karen Wile.

Our thanks for this beautiful book, the results of an enthusiastic and wonderful group of people who co-operated with us in every way.

To Father Victor F. Ries, administrator, and the faculty —thanks for your patience and generosity.

We are deeply grateful to our advisor for her guidance and help throughout the year.

A special vote of thanks to our staff, who willingly gave their time and effort after school to the production of this, our twentieth volume.

Thanks to our photographers, too — Mr. Jack H. Bainter, Mr. Ray Pe Conga, Mr. George Wisler, Miss Mary M. Walsh of Jean Sardou Studios for the senior pictures, and Mr. Robert A. Rawe of Nor-Ann Studios for the underclassmen portraits.

We thank Miss Mary E. Hill and The Gray Printing Company, whose help with this book was indispensable.

Thanks also to all the rest who helped us with our yearbook. We enjoyed every moment working with our fellow Centralites, "Saints in the Making."

September ...
full of fascination and fun

Ready to start the new school year is Miss Patricia Sheridan, secretary to the Administration.
Book lists, school regulations, and passes for many occasions are all ready to go to the sixteen home rooms for the 628 members of C.C.'s student body.

SEPTEMBER

"It shouldn't be long now," excitingly exclaims one starry-eyed freshman as he anxiously awaits the moment when the doors of Catholic Central will sweep open for another year of "readin', ritin', and remembrin'."

Marking the second year of the opening of the new High School building were an enthusiastic group of 628 students as they were greeted by the faculty on September 8.

Introducing incoming freshmen to the life and spirit of Central were the seniors at a party given in honor of these new "rookies" on September 25. A style show presented by the senior boys highlighted the afternoon. Refreshments, dancing, and getting acquainted with "little brothers and sisters" completed the senior-freshmen party.

Colorful Autumn slowly fades

"Now this will be our first number," explains George Bianchi to spirit-rousing senior boys Charles Schartz, Joseph Lemmons, Thomas Brown, and James Bushu as Richard Asebrook and Brian Garry make ready for the trip to the game.

OCTOBER

Reading tips on everything from cloudy skies to Catholic Youth Week kept Centralites busy on October 16 with the first edition of the Centrib.

Measuring up for that all important National Honor Society Test were the seniors, October 20.

Busy making posters and stirring up spirit, were the active members of Pep Club as the Homecoming Week-end drew near.

Football games, picnics, hikes, or maybe just "staying in" for an extra hour was enjoyed by all on October 27, a free day given in honor of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Sisters of Charity in America.

"Strike!" cries an enthusiastic member of the Catholic Central bowling team as he practices up for the 1959-60 season.

Portraying the part of Mother Seton is Sandra Pulaski, as Shirley Fugate, Rosellen Summers, and James Setty pay tribute to her as a wonderful mother, wife, and nun.

into a snow-capped Fairyland

An expression of joy can be easily noted on the faces of happy Centralites Sue Walsh and James Anastasi as they enjoy an evening of dancing at the Mary Christmas Ball.

NOVEMBER

Breathing a sigh of relief were all Centralites as the first quarter came to a close on November 6.

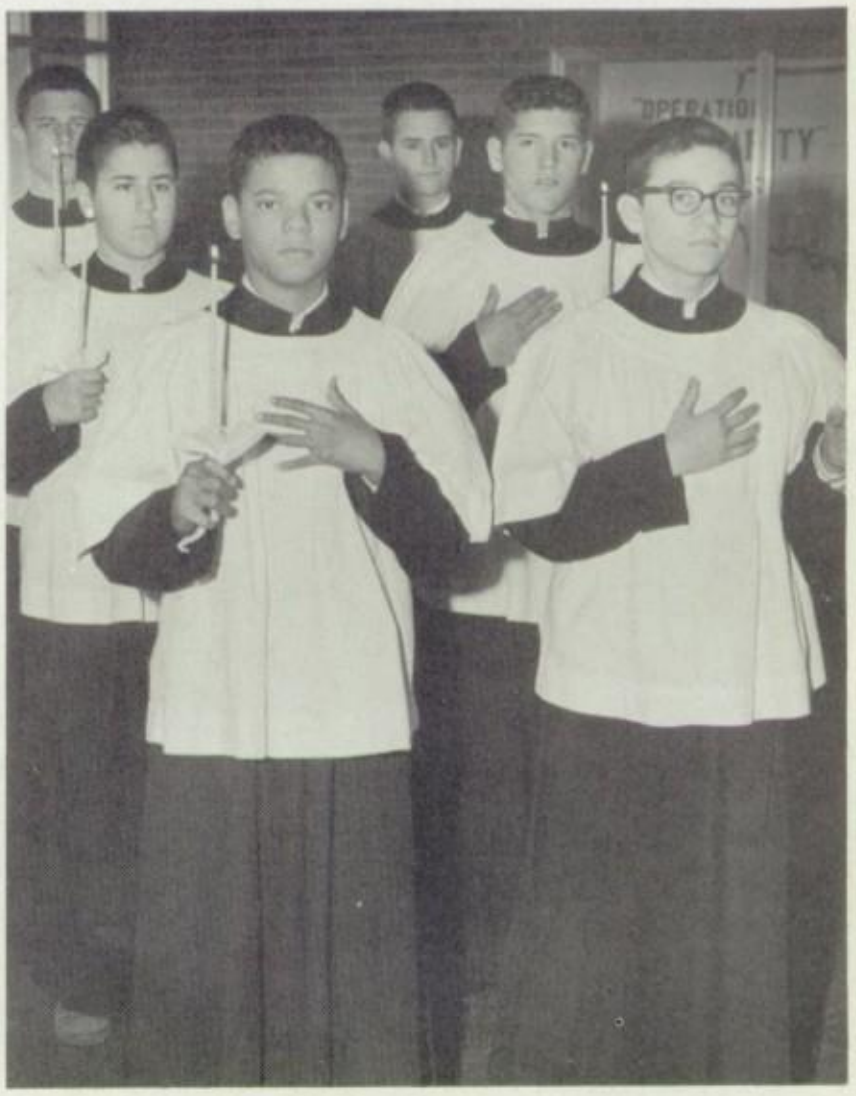
As the month rolled along, busy seniors hurried to complete their list of subscribers for the 1960 edition of Spires.

November 22 was the day chosen to present a concert by the members of the various music groups in honor of Saint Cecelia, the patroness of music.

"Bread, meat, and fruit completes the list," states a Mother Seton League representative as she puts the last articles of food in the gaily decorated baskets for a Thanksgiving treat for the needy.

Trading books and quizzes for a ringside seat to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings were eager Centralites on November 26 as they left school for a brief Thanksgiving holiday.

Forming a procession for Christmas services are Central acolytes Earl Berrien, Steven Martin, Ralph Picolo, Dan Mowery, Daniel Meyer, and Michael Whalen.



DECEMBER

An important step in the process of canonization of Mother Seton took place on December 18 when she was declared Venerable by Pope John XXIII.

The cleaning of lockers and the collecting of papers in an air of excitement foretold the fact that the Christmas vacation was about to begin, as December 23 crept nearer.

A blessed and happy Christmas was enjoyed by all.

The rustling of silks and satin mingled with the fragrance of floral corsages on December 29 as "Angel Heaven," the 1959 Mary Christmas Ball, was enjoyed by the upper classmen.

A dream of many classes became a reality when 125 girls formed a Block "C" cheering section. This is the first such group ever inaugurated at Catholic Central.

Centralites glide into ...

"They make it look so easy," sigh onlooking Centralites as they wistfully watch Sarah and Daniel Campbell perform their latest stunts on ice.

JANUARY

Wishes for a bright future could be heard from all as the students welcomed in the New Year.

The serious side of this new year was soon to be displayed before the students as 73 seniors probed into their minds for the answers to the Ohio Scholarship Test, January 14.

"Books! Notes! And more books!" cried out the worried students of Central as they crammed for mid-term exams.

A day of relaxation was greatly appreciated by all of the students. The faculty had the task of correcting papers on January 29.

And before one had a chance to remember all of this it was . . . . . .

Central's 1960 Retreat Master, Reverend Father Richard Cody, smiles approvingly as James Duffy and Donald Walsh show him the Retreat bulletin board.

FEBRUARY

February was started out with a retreat given by Father Richard Cody C.PP.S. A time of spiritual counsel and recollection was well spent by the students as they realized the primary purpose of our life is eternal salvation.

The biting of nails seemed to be quite common around the halls of C.C.H.S. during the week of February 15, while flustered students awaited those dreaded report cards.

"Let's dance," echoed through the gymnasium as the Record Hop given by the Centrib Staff got into full swing, February 20.

A student's delight was cheered by all as the school honored Washington's birthday with a free day.

the festive month of March

Proudly putting forth their class rings for the blessing are seniors Edward Malahy and Patricia Luzio. Father David Heinl, senior Religion teacher, performs the ceremony.

MARCH

As the month of March rushes in, warm weather is usually close behind. But not so in the still New Year of 1960, for brisk winds and drifts of snow were a common sight.

Ash Wednesday began the spiritual calendar for this month. Students strove to practice the positive as well as the negative resolutions as Lent progressed.

A visitor at Central could not miss seeing the spirit of the Irish displayed on the seventeenth, as green was the predominant color scheme in honor of St. Patrick.

Plans for the future, for many Centralites, were given that finishing touch as juniors and seniors attended Career talks on March 21.

Members of the CSMC were kept very busy, as they tried to reach their goal for the Bishop's Relief Fund. Giving of their savings on candy and "daily dainties" gave Central its usual total of $1500.

"Prim and pretty as a picture" is a perfect description of the four senior representatives for the Wren's High School Style Show who were chosen this month.

March 27 marked the half-way mark in the season of Lent.

Demonstrating how the Irish enjoy a good dance are a few of Central's true wearers of the green, John McEvoy, Janet Haley, Robert Deady, Eileen Dunn, and Patrick McLean.

Finishing touches add .....

"Show us how it's done," exclaim Marjorie Reeb, Louise Akers, Carolyn Bennett, and Tom Spahr looking on with keen interest as the opposite cast of Sue Walsh, Judy Tucker, Brian Garry, and Deanna Juergens enact the first scene of the Senior Class Play, "Onions in the Stew."

APRIL

Learning the techniques of running our city efficiently were members of the senior class as they participated in City Government Day.

"If you elect me, I promise that" . . . . was the familiar platform of the various candidates for the Student Council offices of the 1960-61 school year.

Tones of excitement purred through the halls of C.C.H.S. giving a hint to all that the Easter vacation was drawing near.

Misty dreams of gay profusion lingered in the minds of sleepy Centralites as they headed home in glimmering chariots from the annual Easter Dance.

MAY

Since Spring is the season of bright flowers and light music, students began this month with a song as they presented the Spring Concert, May 1.

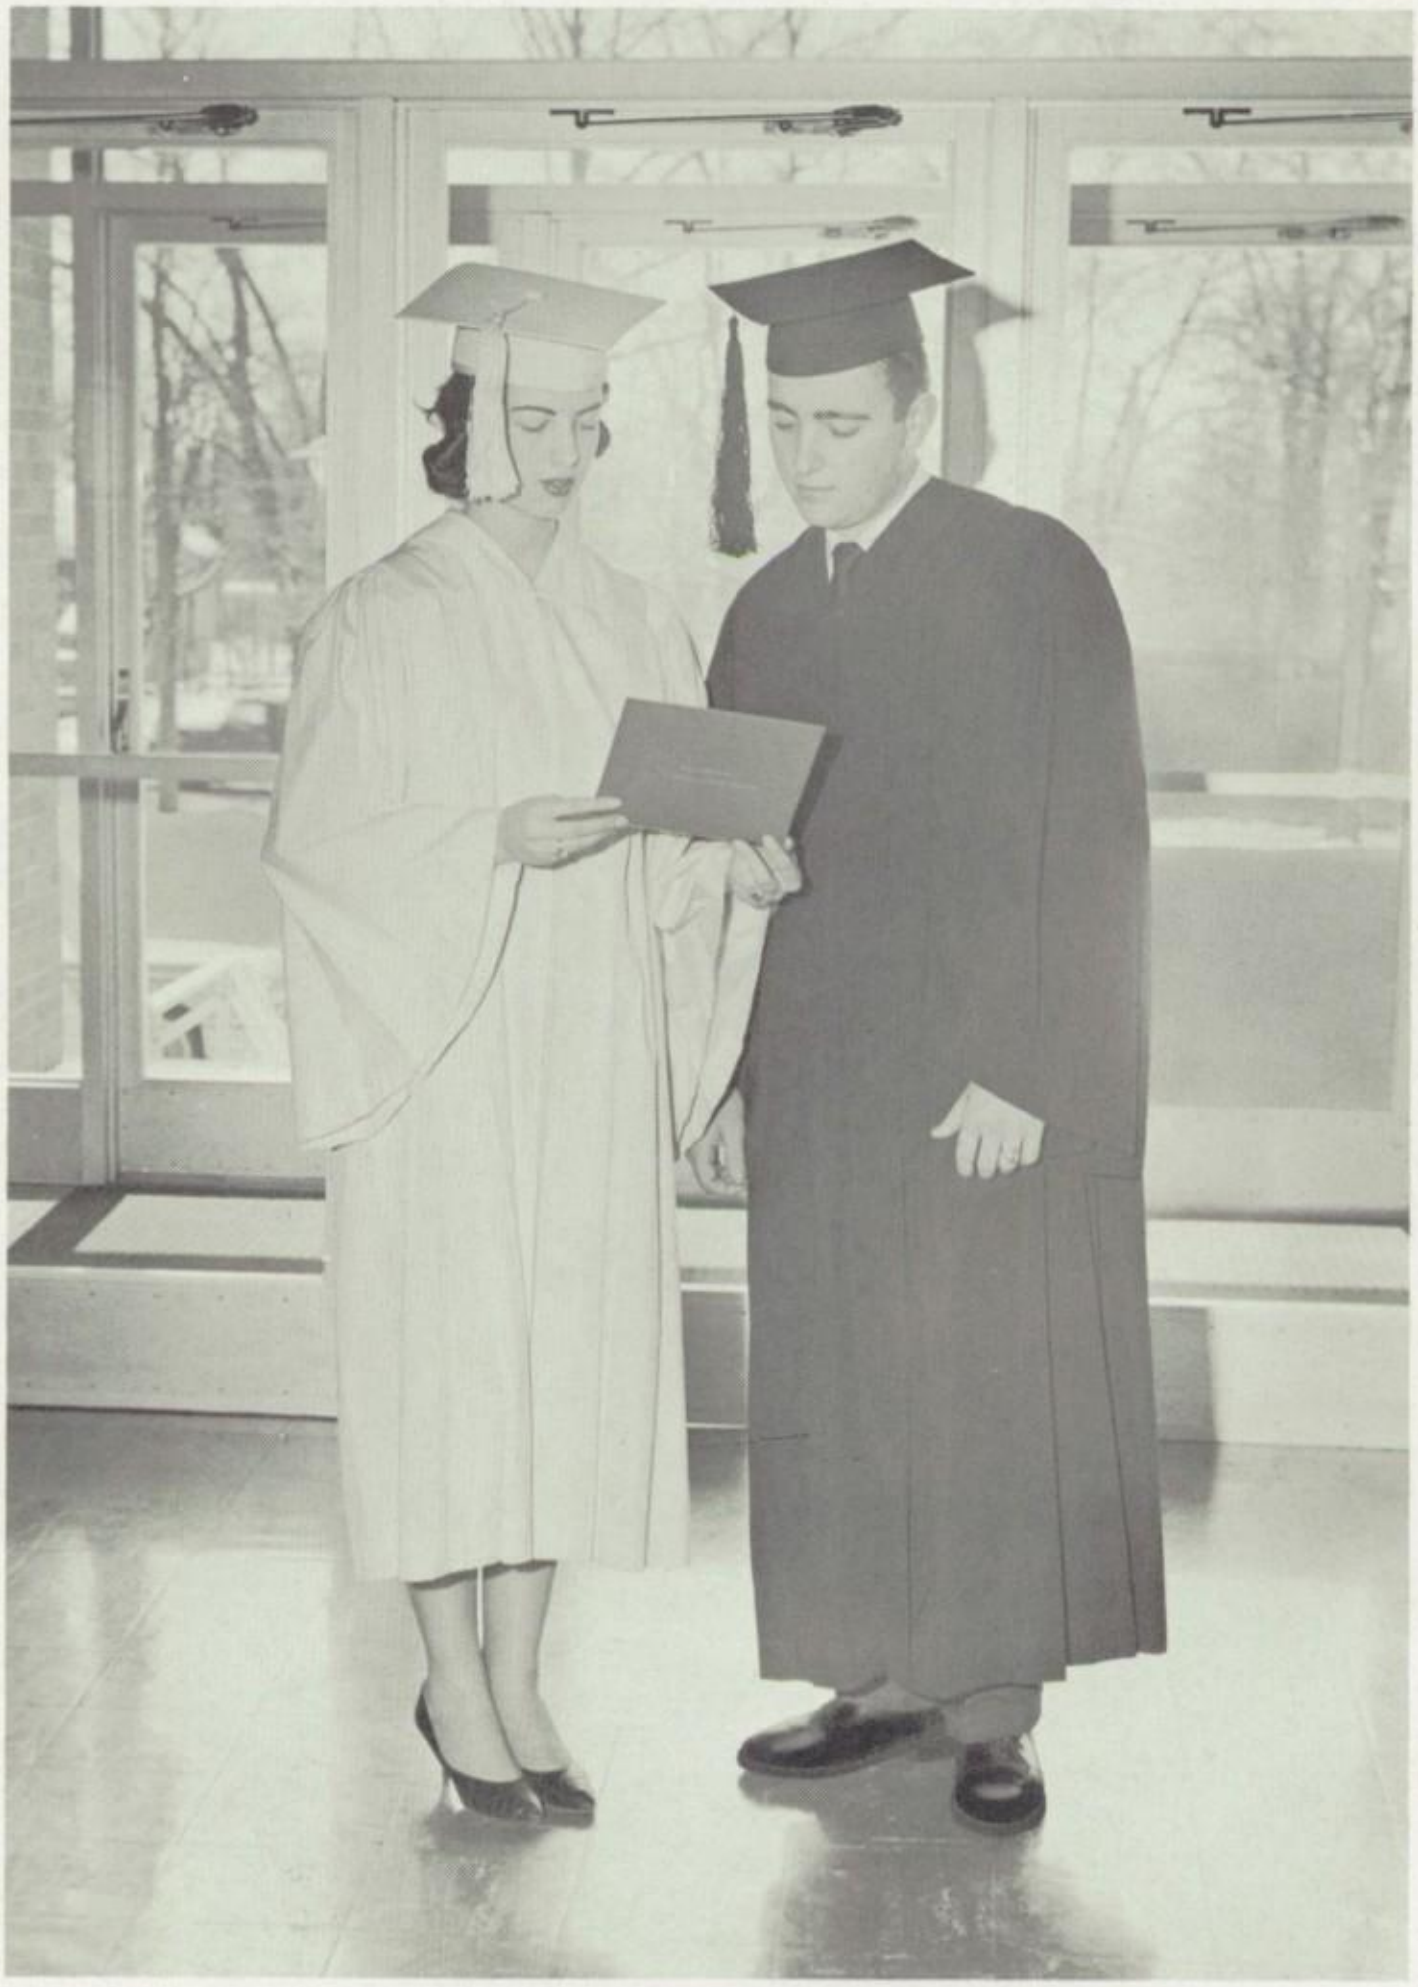
An air of tense excitement and stage fright creep upon the seniors as they study their lines, design costumes, and check the scenery which completes the final touches in preparation for the Senior Class Play, Onions in the Stew, under the direction of Mr. Lubbers.

"May I have this dance?" This will be a common request heard by all the lovely "belles of the ball" on May 21 at the Junior-Senior Prom.

"The big day is getting closer and closer." This is the thought most prevalent in the minds of the seniors as they plan for Graduation. It may be a bit late for making decisions for the future, for there are only ten school days left.

Putting away the books and anxiously getting out their summer equipment are Centralites Roseanne LaFayette, Steve Anderson, and Gus Elsener.

Visions of a Bright Tomorrow



Gazing thoughtfully at a diploma, which to these seniors signifies a most important part of their lives at Catholic Central, are Sara Dennis and Jerome Jung.

Looking toward their future goals in life and as citizens of America, the senior class bids the school its last farewell on June 10.

Although the four years have been all too brief, most seniors agree that they will certainly miss the familiar voices of their teachers and fellow students.

Leaving with them is a fond wish from all underclassmen for a bright and successful future. "God be with you in all your ways" is their prayer and farewell to the seniors.

St. Raphael ...

Patron of Happy Meetings

HAPPY INDEED was the young Tobias when he met a young man who was willing to accompany him on the journey which he was to make for his father. St. Raphael was this companion and he was sent by God to guide the young Tobias.

We have chosen St. Raphael as the guide of our social activities. May we bring to those we meet the joys, kindnesses, and blessings which St. Raphael brought to the family of Tobias.

May St. Raphael, the patron of happy meetings, be with us as we begin our Eternal Commencement.

Our Activities

Representing the students at Catholic Central are the officers of the Student Council. They are James Duffy, president; Louise Habeeb, vice-president; Donald Powell, treasurer; and Julia Meyer, secretary.

During the past year the Student Council sponsored a magazine drive and the United Appeals Drive at C.C.H.S. Poster contests were held for "Get Acquainted Week," "Keep Christ in Christmas," and the Variety Show.

This organization presented each homeroom with Advent wreaths. They also gave the Sisters a three-speed, high-fidelity record player at Christmas time.

Assisting Julia Meyer, Student Council secretary, to select records for a sock hop are juniors Patricia Walsh, Terrence Whalen, and Thomas Palmer.
These weekend dances were one of the special activities sponsored by the Council.

School Leaders Plan Gay

Rehearsing with Don Powell, SC treasurer, for their Winter Variety Show are juniors Kathleen Dirscherl and Edith West.
The girls represent only two of the eighteen acts in the show.

The winter season found the SC sponsoring a Variety Show and the annual Career Week. The record hops held during the year provided entertainment for all Central students.

April elections brought an end to the administration of this Student Council group. From then on, they coached the new officers for their duties for the coming year.

Presenting Mr. Keating with a check to assist his work in the CDL are CSMC officers Theresa TenBarge, Frederick Bernstein, Edward Mahoney, and Sandra Townsend.

Mr. Charles H. Keating, founder and national chairman of the Citizens of Decent Literature, and one of ten members for the School Board of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati, was guest speaker for a Catholic Students Mission Crusade General Assembly, held October 30 in the school auditorium.

Mr. Keating spoke on communism and on obscene literature. He stressed its influence on the young people, its prevalence on today's news-stands, and the purpose of the CDL—to promote and encourage public officials to enforce existing laws against obscene literature.

The speaker "was inspired to organize the CDL during a retreat he made several years ago". Its beginning was in a small way with fifteen businessmen in Cincinnati. CDL methods are now nation-wide methods used by educational, religious, fraternal, and civic groups in Milwaukee, St. Paul, Chicago, Buffalo, and Indianapolis.

Mr. Keating was a Navy night fighter pilot and American swimming champion. He testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee studying the nationwide obscenity problem.

Affairs for After Class Hours

"Queen of the Apostles, pray for the Missions, that all may know the Savior of the world."

This is the prayer said every day by Catholic Central students for the intention of the Missions. It also expresses the main purpose of the CSMC—to bring Christ to every part of the world.

Under the direction of Sister Mary Honora, this club has been engaged in varied programs throughout the year.

Several missionaries in all parts of the world were assisted spiritually and materially by prayers and donations of CC students. During Lent, money collected was given to the Catholic Bishops Relief Fund.

Study Clubs were again on the CSMC agenda. Moderators headed discussions this year on Africa, Communism, and the Philippines.

Mission representatives worked with the CYO in co-sponsoring dances held on Sunday afternoons at the Benevolent Hall and they attended a regional meeting in Columbus, November 11.

Among familiar sights of Crusader activities this year were the cloak room at the basketball games and the postoffice service during Christmastime and Valentine Day.

Highlighting CSMC dances was the Easter Dance which spotlighted the Mission Queen and her attendants.

"Don't forget my Christmas cards!" exclaims Donna Scherzinger to Postman Richard Haemmerle, as junior CSMC representatives Anthony Bowers, Joleen Cullen, and Robert Meyer wave him goodby.

We Offer Our Humble Prayer...

Melody without music sings throughout CC corridors as the revived A Cappella Choir puts forth their best. The choir composed of 66 girls from the junior and senior class study under the direction of Sister Mary Sheila.

Much time has been devoted to this group who were selected individually from the third and fourth year Glee Clubs.

Songs of famous composers are brought to life when the choir shows their ability to sing in a three-part harmony.

The fine musical qualities of the chorus were first heard publicly at the St. Cecelia Winter Concert, February 22, when they made their debut singing Give Thanks, Peter Piper, Panis Angelicus, and Wonderful Copenhagen.

Music! Music! Music! echoes through the halls of Central each Monday after school, and at noon on Friday as the orchestra members have their assembly in the gymnasium.

The favorite melodies range from a Sousa march and a waltz medley to a square dance piece and a Polovetsian Dance.

The Music Department concluded this year's activities with the Spring Concert held on May 1 in the school auditorium.

The A Cappella Choir began the program with the Ave Maria by Bottazzo.

Each group sang a number from one of the current Broadway plays by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

The Junior-Senior Mixed Glee included selections from Oklahoma and the Freshmen sang an Irish Folk Song, Bendemeer's Stream. Orchestra numbers were Forgotten Dreams, Look for the Silver Lining, and June Is Busting Out All Over.

The Freshmen Music Appreciation Class presented a Square Dance with the folk tune, My Little Girl and Beautiful Ohio, a waltz, was danced by eight sophomore couples. The dances were taught by Mrs. Edna Ziegler.

The Sophomore Girl's Ensemble sang Sixteen Going On Seventeen and the Barbershop Chorus chose April Showers.

Accompanists were Mary Ann Tayloe, Deanna Juergens, Mary Ann Nafz, and Carol Shaw.

The program concluded with the combined clubs and choir singing, "Climb Every Mountain," from The Sound of Music, by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Discussing points of the latest Young Christian Student Organization bulletin, during a study period, are Michael Miller, Ronald Belt, Phyllis Mote, Francis Grafton, and Julia Meyer.

Aiming high at awakening today's generation to the fact that religion and everyday life are closely related, are the members of the Young Christian Student Organization.

This group has been in existence for more than thirty years and has spread through fifty countries.

In order to become a member, one must study the related matter for a twelve-month period before an application will be considered.

Some of the activities pertaining to this society are: the training of young people to be leaders in school, parish, and community; preparing students to choose their intended vocations; and revealing to them their duties in the lay apostolate.

As stated by Father David Heinl, Chaplain of the Central Branch of Y.C.S. to Sister Kevin, a co-director, "These sophomores and juniors, through the grace of God, will attain their goal."

School Spirit, Sanctity ... Aims of Groups

Sparked by the Pep Club, student spirit soared high at Catholic Central this year.

During football season, vests, megaphones, and feathered hats, sold by the Club, made it easier for students to boast of their mighty team.

A car motorcade, through town, ending with a pep rally and sock hop at school, were examples of this spirit.

The Pep Club's biggest project was during basketball season with the formation of the Block "C", under the direction of Mary Lyons, senior and Pep Club President. Members of the block attended all home games and the tournament game at Troy.

Green sweaters formed the Block and gold ones the "C". White gloves were worn to add timing to the cheers.

Planning the sale of Pep Club activators are Mary Lyons, president; Patricia Sullivan, vice president; Patricia Walsh, secretary; and Brian Garry, treasurer.

"You are the elite of the school," remarked Father Victor Ries, Administrator, to the members of the National Honor Society at a meeting held November 25 in the school auditorium.

This society consists of juniors and seniors as active members and sophomores who are inducted into the society on a trial basis.

Members must meet the requirements of 85 and 90 per cent averages and must show leadership, service requirements, and uphold the high standards of the society.

Under the direction of Sister Mary De Paul, the Chapter meets every third Tuesday. Names of the members are sent to the National Office and pins and identification cards are awarded to all members.

Louise Habeeb, vice president, pins sophomore Mary Groeber as Patrick Pickett, Virgil Broering, Jeannette Lonsway, and John Riley look over the membership cards and pledges.
There are 58 members in the Club which was organized in March 1959.

Pins for Honor: Tickets for Fairs

With interests ranging from "oxygen" to "osmosis", members of the Science Club explore the vast fields available to them. Meetings held every second and fourth Thursday of the month give them an opportunity for demonstrations and movies concerning topics in the news.

Meetings were planned and conducted by officers William Glaser, president; Sandra Pulaski, vice president; Ronald Belt, secretary; and Charles Pitt, treasurer.

The Science Fair, held February 22-26, gave members and other science-minded students an opportunity to display their knowledge. Those receiving Superior and Excellent ratings on their projects were eligible for the Fairs at Springfield High and Wittenberg.

First Row: K. Teeters, K. Diltz, B. Ferree, M. Demma, G. Barone.
Second Row: J. McAtee, K. Kelly, M. L. Hellmuth, Lynn Franzen.
Third Row: P. Kerrigan, S. Jordan, M. A. Tayloe, M. A. McAllister, P. Mote.
Fourth Row: V. Butner, Y. Snow, D. Nevius.

Sophomore Ensemble girls like the soft sounds of dreamy music and they proved this as they sang "Bali Ha'i" by Rodgers and Hammerstein and "Till There Was You" by Wilson at the St. Cecelia Concert. As an added feature, Edith West and Robert Akers did a tango as the Ensemble sang "A Futile Serenade".

The stirring rhythm of the Mixed Glee Clubs, these junior and senior groups combined; was shown in their selection of "Old Man River", "I Believe", a prayer in melody; "I Could Have Danced All Night", and "Getting to Know You" which was their part in the Fall Festival.

This group sang carols at Christmas time and have sung several selections from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma".

Under the direction of Sister Mary Sheila, the orchestra selected "Mountain Music", "At a Square Dance", and the "Polovetsian" Dance for the St. Cecelia Concert held, November 22.

Clarette Bell, Mary Teresa Laengle, Mary Sweeney, and Dolores Lemmons, from the orchestra, presented a String Ensemble piece "Young Prince and the Princess".

'It's This Way':

'It's Under Biography'

Should the Federal Government Require Compulsory Arbitration in All Basic Industries? Should the Federal Government Substantially Increase Its Requalifications of Labor Unions? These were the questions which initiated six senior debaters in the role of argumentation and the Forensic League at Springfield High School, January 9.

Debaters placed first, second, and third in three district meets but they did not come in as one of the top three in the State Forensic Meet held at Dayton, Fairview, February 20.

The club also holds membership in the Cincinnati Archdiocesan Forensic League.

Cataloguing and dating of books are among the duties of the librarians of Catholic Central. Under the direction of Sister Dolores, these librarians give not only their study periods but their after-school hours as well to this interesting work.

A special feature on their agenda for the past year was the distribution of retreat pamphlets. As a result, each student was given a set of four retreat pamphlets for his use during the retreat.

Rosalind Groeber, president; Lucille Derr, vice president; Patricia Lawarre, secretary; and Margaret Bramble, historian are the officers of the club.

Demonstrating the assistance given to Centralites in the library are the school librarians.

Seated, Marianne Hellmuth, Patricia Lawarre, Rosalind Groeber, Margaret Bramble, Mary Sweeney, Regina Kuss, and Christy McCann.

Standing, Michael Hynes, Mary Lawarre, Patricia Juenger, Elaine Heaton, Mary Lou Hellmuth, Mary Emmajean Smith, Carolyn Whipp, and Nancy Martin.

Promoting the cause of Mother Seton, taking care of the school Chapel, and helping the sick and needy are just a few of the many privileges of Mother Seton League Members.

This year the Mother Seton League sponsored the annual Thanksgiving Basket Drive during which time the various home rooms brought canned goods and collected money for meat for the poor.

At Christmas time, the League gave stockings filled with candy and toys to patients at Mercy Hospital.

Pamela Juergens, junior, arranges the Sisters of Charity motto "The Charity of Christ Urges Us", while Karen Teeters, sophomore, and Mary Teresa Laengle, junior, wait to show Pamela a poster of Mother Seton by William Glaser, senior.

Mother Seton Week, held between February 21-26, gave League Members a chance to help promote interest in the cause of Venerable Elizabeth Ann Seton by posters, displays, and writing contests. The week was climaxed with an assembly during which a skit was given on Mother Seton's life, winners of poetry and essay contests read their works, and Sister Rosarita, Secretary General of the Sisters of Charity, was guest speaker.

Guided by Sister Agnes Louise, members meet every third Wednesday of the month to discuss and improve their duties and activities.

Mother Seton Hailed 'Venerable'

Looking over a book about Mother Seton with Sister Rosarita, Secretary General of the Sisters of Charity, are Mother Seton League officers Lynne Herzog, secretary; Karen Wile, vice president; Marilyn Gnau, treasurer; and Mary Mertens, president.

Singing, Serving Keep...

Beginning their active part in glee clubs at Central, are more than one hundred sophomores. Having spent their freshman year studying voice, they were permitted to participate in the Winter Concert sponsored by the Music Department under the direction of Sister Mary Sheila.

Their selections included America, Our Heritage; Mighty Like a Rose, The Deaf Woman's Courtship, a humorous selection; and Sweet Kentucky Babe.

Singing periods also included learning to sing the parts of the Mass. They sang every Tuesday at the 7:45 a.m. Mass and for the Masses during retreat and First Friday.

"Ready service, according to our ability" is exemplified by the Central Acolytes. Ninety boys selected from the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman classes have the privilege of serving the High Mass offered daily in the Saint Francis DeSales Chapel by Administrator Father Victor Ries.

Each high school class has a special day to sing the Mass. Fridays are assigned to the clubs.

Edward Mahoney, senior, is prefect of the Acolytes and he makes the appointments for the Masses and for the Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament.

Preparing for Solemn High Mass are servers Paul Groeber, Edward Mahoney, Richard Asebrook, James Duffy, William Hannon, and Ronald Belt.

....Teeners Holy, Happy

"Without a song", is surely the motto of the Barber Shop Chorus. Practicing twice a week, they participated in the Winter Festival and have learned to sing the Propers of the Mass for the major feasts.

Thank You, America; Count Your Blessings, and Younger Than Springtime were their selections for the Winter Festival.

Off campus, this group leads the singing in the buses for the away games, at Open House, and at other social gatherings.

St. Bernard...

PORTRAIT OF ST. BERNARD PRESERVED AT ROME AND SAID TO HAVE BEEN PAINTED IN 1152, THE YEAR BEFORE HIS DEATH

Confessor and Doctor

ST. BERNARD is our inspiration for sports. He kept the training rules of an athlete of Christ that his first victory might be over himself.

His saintly life led others to follow his example. His love of God inspired several rulers and thousands of knights to go to the Holy Land to rescue the Sacred Places from the Turks.

Tornado men, as crusading knights, don the gear of battle and go forth to show by their might and their valor the virtues of true manhood on grid, court, and course.

Sports

The Sports Program at Catholic Central

The Sports Program at Catholic Central is maintained to give the students the opportunity to develop themselves spiritually, physically, and socially.

Sports activities sponsored by the school are the Varsity, Reserve and Freshman football squads, basketball teams, golf crews, and the newly inaugurated tennis teams.

This program should form strong bodies and teach the virtues of self control, teamwork, sportsmanship, and enlightened courage.

The sports for girls are volleyball and basketball. They play intramural games but have no outside competitive games.

Mr. William F. Rankin
Mr. John F. Spichty

Mr. Richard J. Costello
Mr. Francis P. Collins

Coach Rankin is Athletic Director and head football coach at CC. Integrating the gridiron schedule and handling public relations for the Tornado squads are two aspects of his post.

Besides heading the pigskin squad, he also coaches the baseball, golf, and reserve basketball teams.

Mr. John Spichty, since his return to his Alma Mater, has been working hard in tutoring the Tornado line. His success can be measured by the rugged appearance and determination of the line he coaches.

Coach Spichty attended Catholic Central from 1944 to 1948. He was an outstanding player on the varsity grid team for three years and on the cage team for two seasons.

Mr. Spichty's athletic career in high school led to an equally excellent record at Cedarville College. Since 1955, the rugged linemen of CC look to "Spichty" for his special type of line strategy.

Mr. Richard Costello is finishing his second year as head basketball coach. Of his favorite sport he says: "Basketball should help a boy to mature in every way, that is physically and mentally, and to gain poise and self control."

Mr. Costello is also assistant football coach and a teacher of Health and American History.

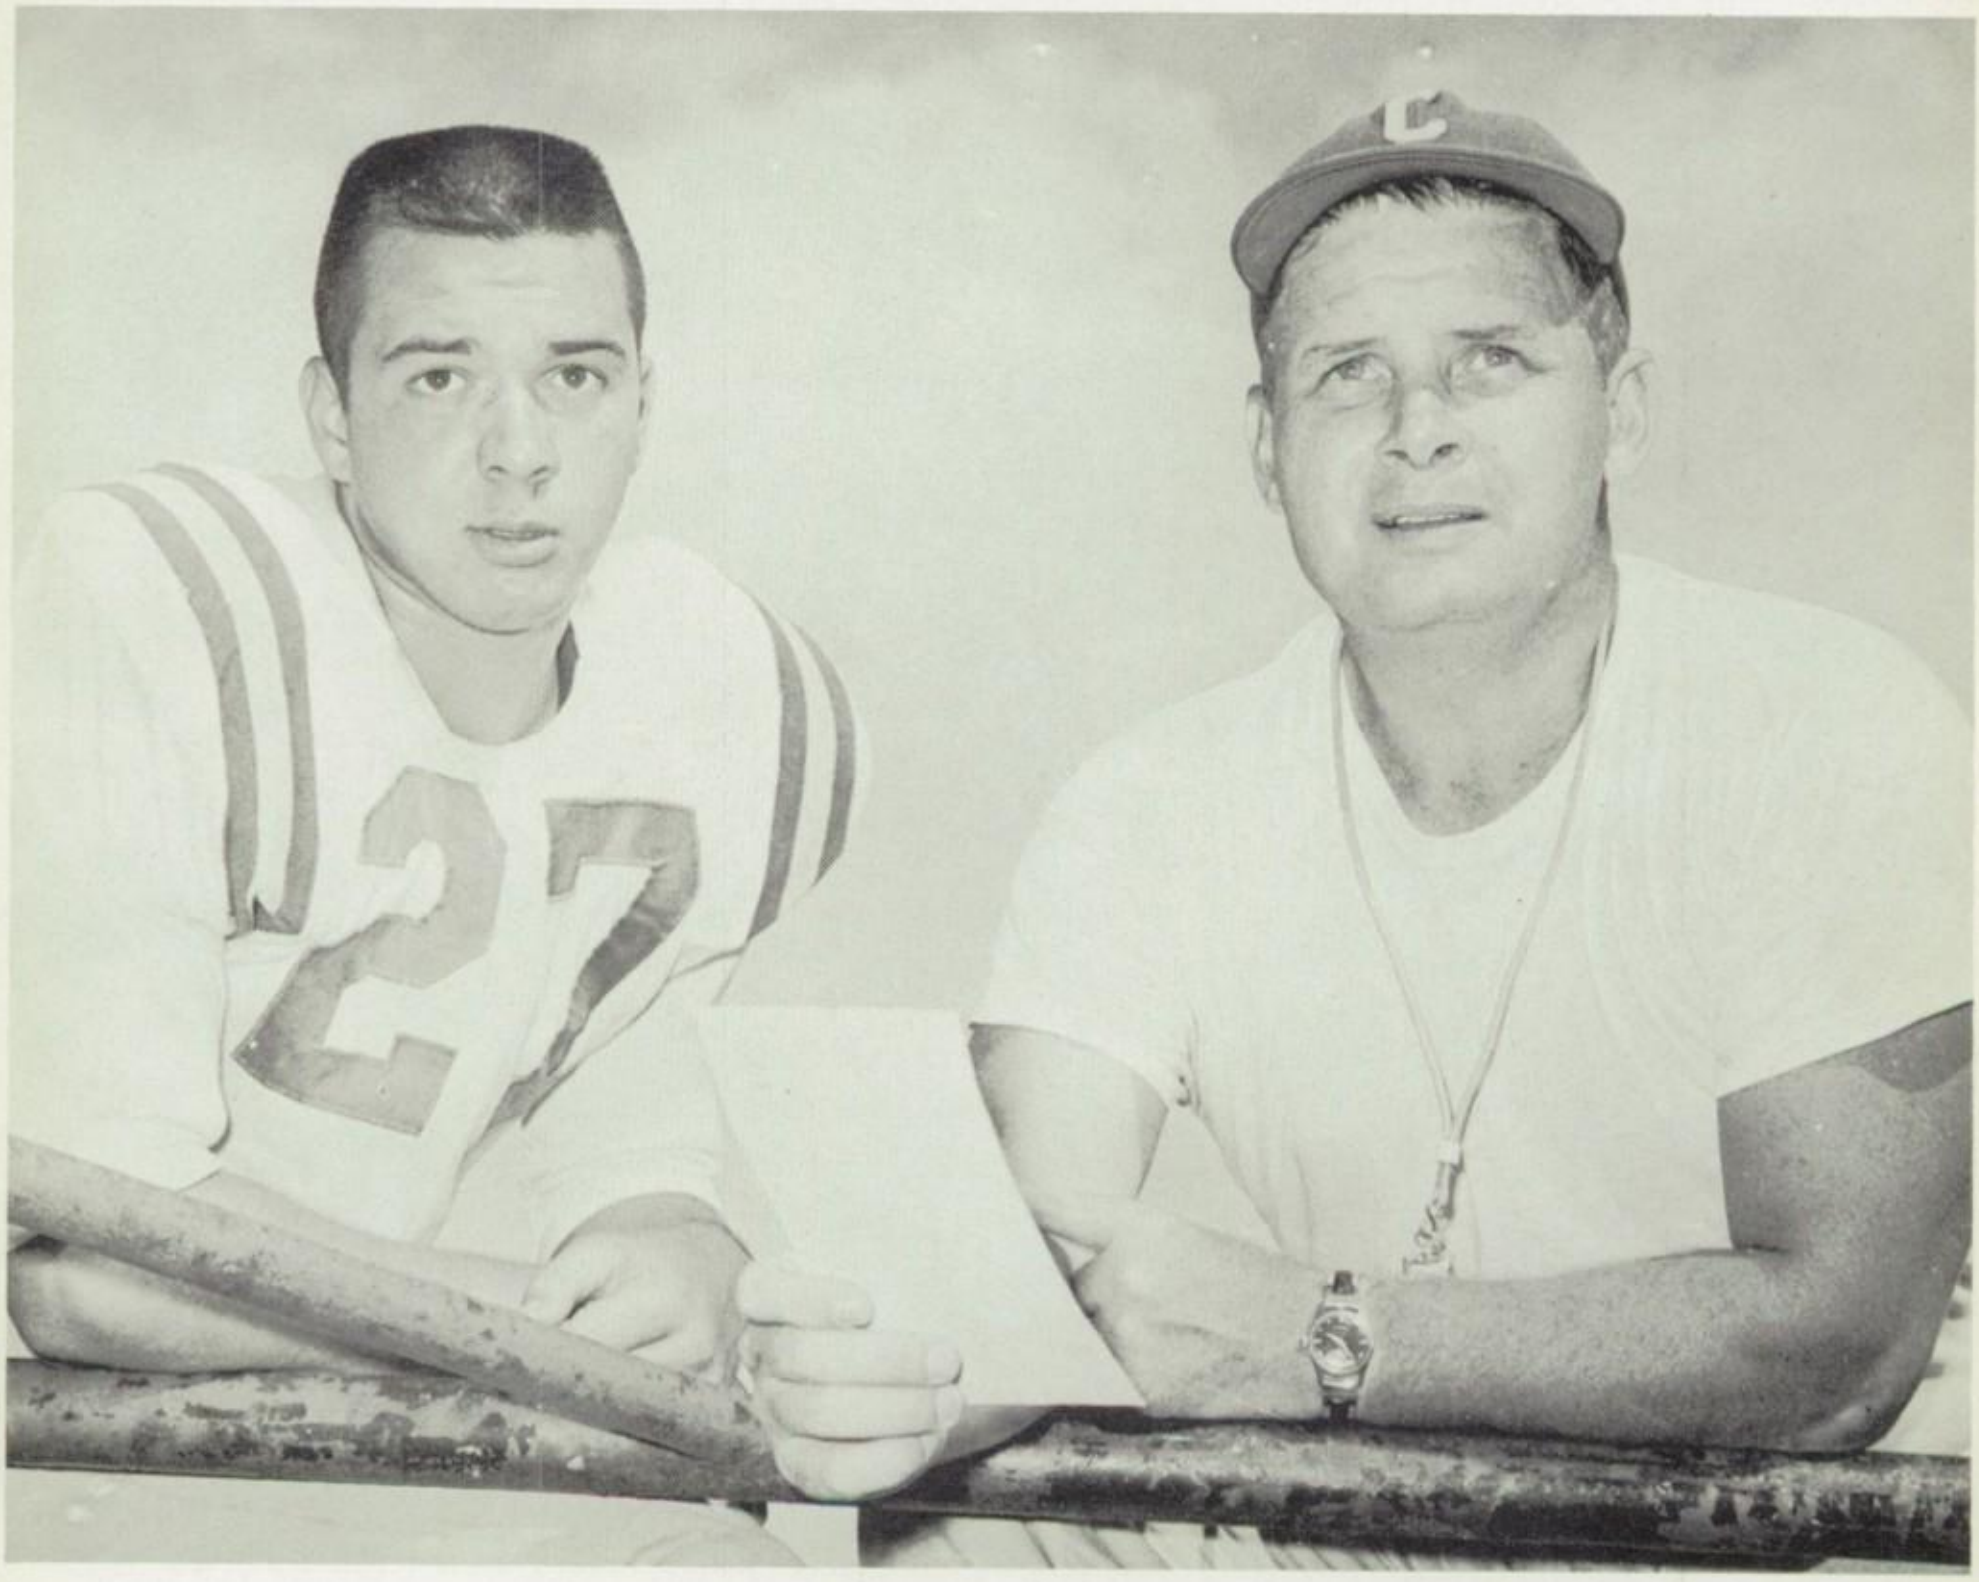
Mr. Francis Collins assists Coach Rankin in training the backfield and reserve teams. Devoting much of his leisure time to the work of the Central squads he has done much to help the team to be "the flashing Green and Gold".

Mr. Collins assisted Coaches Gerald Donahue and William McKinley with the athletic program from 1946 to 1951. He returned to the Tornadoes in 1955 and has continued with the varsity backfield and reserve teams.

Assistant Coach Collins is a former member of the Tornado teams. He was graduated with the Class of '41.

God Bless Our Year!

The Feast of St. Bernard
August 20
Football Squads Begin
Their Season



Captain Jerry Kaeser and Coach William Rankin
ask God's blessing on the coming season

God give us strength to play the game,
To play for You
and not for Fame.

Please give us sight
to see the ball,
And soft green turf
if we should fall.

God give us love
for foe and friend,
Help pass the ball
from back to end.

God, give defeat
or victory,
Whate'er the score
we'll play for Thee.

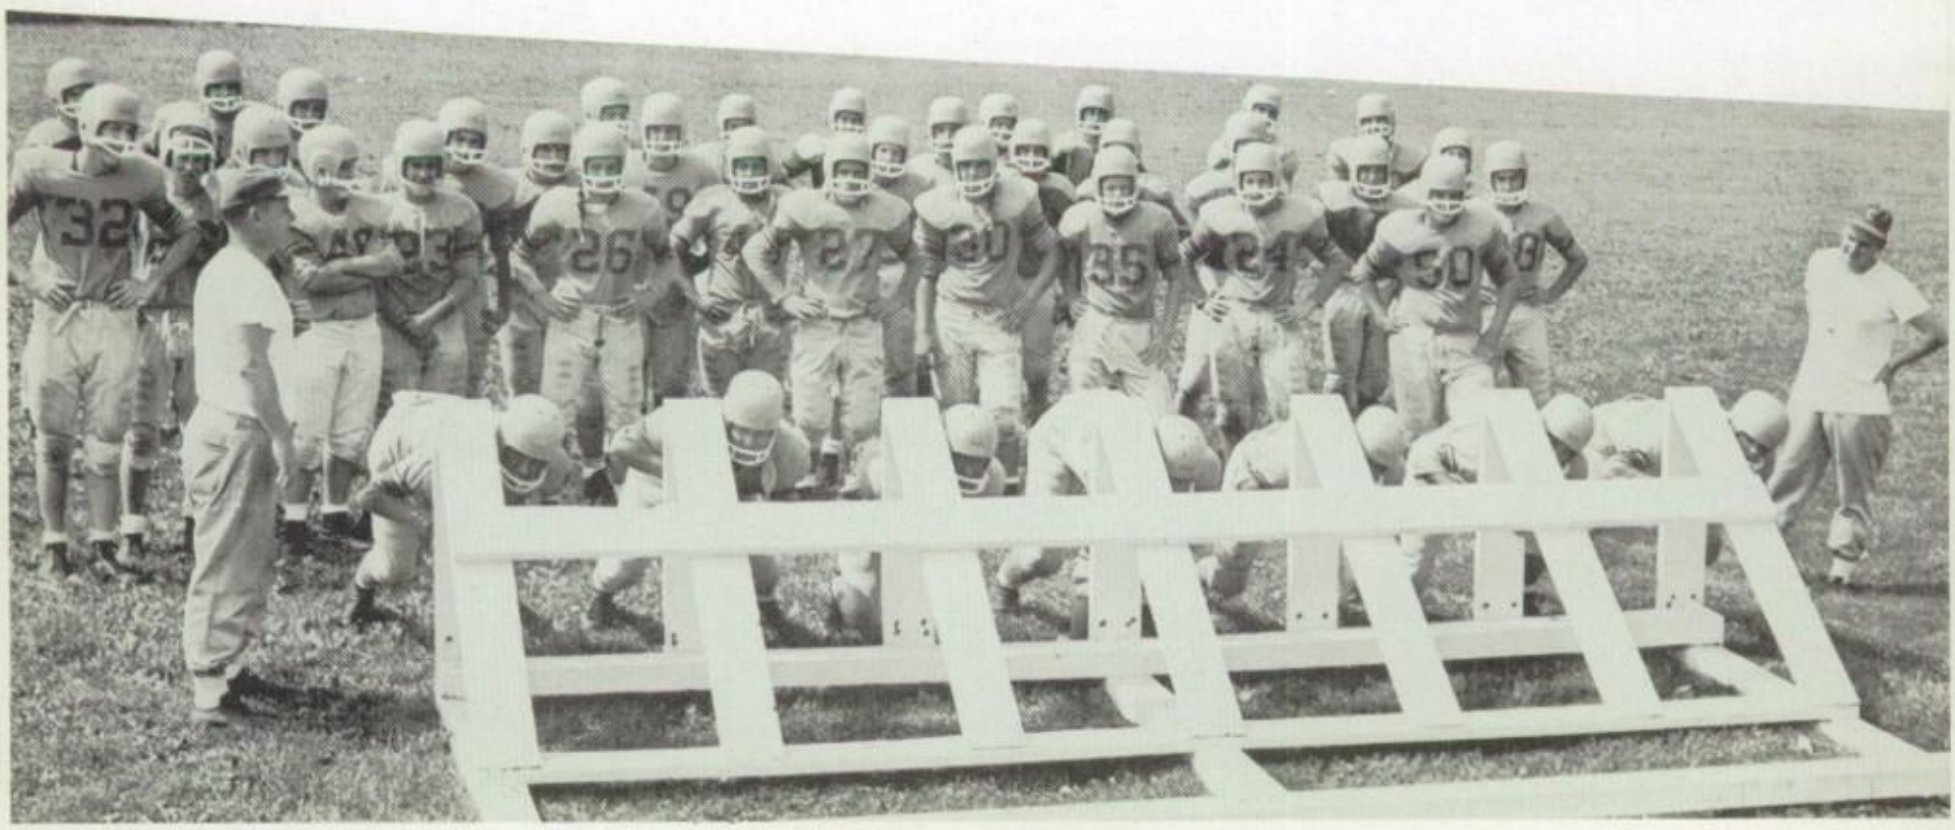
Tornadoes Train for Triumph

"Practice makes perfect" was the thought that drove the Tornadoes to practice each night to find new and better ways to outsmart their opponents. It was work, sacrifice, and spirit that led the Tornadoes to a wonderful season.

Sparking the backfield and leading the Tornadoes through thick or thin were Don Walsh and Terry Whalen, quarterbacks for Central.

Calling the right plays, they led Central over the goal line and down the road to victory.



We Give You a Dozen Reasons For Tornado Spirit

Posing for a picture for cheer leadership are the varsity and reserve cheerleaders.
Kneeling: Dolores Lemmons, Terry Hannon, Sharon Rogers, Carolyn Bennett, Carol Routzahn, Mary Rae Horn, Mary Clifford, Reserves captain.
Standing: Mary Mullen, Lois Broering, Judy Tucker, Varsity captain; Carol Sheridan, and Elaine Heaton.

Boosting the Tornado spirit are these twelve Central cheerleaders.

Creating new cheers, preparing for pep rallies, and trying to spark enthusiasm in all Centralites are just a few of the many duties performed by these young ladies.

Wittenberg cheerleaders judged the thirty-three juniors and the twenty-five freshmen who tried out for the varsity and reserve posts. These twelve were selected for their poise, pep, and voice.

Scholastically, the cheerleaders must maintain an average of 80 per cent in each subject and have at least 85 per cent in conduct and effort.

Cheerleading is one of the ways in which the girls can participate in the sports program at Catholic Central.

Home Coming Time
or Fall Fever

The beaming faces of these six Irish lasses accented the fall days, when on September 30, the gentle breezes whispered their names as elected to royalty.

Beauteous as the autumn leaves, they are Queen Sue Walsh. Kathryn Rastatter, bottom, center, clockwise, Sandra Pulaski, Kathleen Hackett, Marilyn Laihr, and Mary Lyons.

The multi-colored leaves accented the pastel shades of the Queen's court as the royal entourage came slowly onto the field to reign during the last half of the game.

As the Queen steps forward, the clouds separate to allow the sun to add a crowning touch to Queen Sue and her Court at halftime.

For the reign....

it raineth every day

September winds were wondering who the Queen would be. But September winds were waning before the class could see. From nearly a hundred lasses it was very hard to choose. For only six would victors be and all the rest would lose.

When October was in the offing and the leaves began to fall the PA sounded out its purr and then "Attention" called. The seniors had decided Sue Walsh would wear the crown. She would reign at Hallinean Field when the Falcons came to town. Five princesses were chosen, Mary, Marilyn, and Kathleen, and Sandra and Kathryn would all sit "next the Queen".

The students cheered, "Let's decorate our spacious lawn so green. We'll line displays across the front 'till far and near they're seen."

But the rains came. Crepe paper fell. The props were wobbly, too. But the juniors knew the weather and they knew what to do. Theirs was the burying ground of Central's fallen foes. And so unto the juniors the highest prize goes.

Then they formed a motorcade of 70 flashing cars. A firewagon, of long ago, carried Central's stars. Through the town and out East High to Central gym they flew. And there the car that looked the best was given a bow of blue.

A sock hop followed after, that all the Queen might see. They sang, they danced, and ate their chips, and prayed for victory.

Sunday came and also rain. The Fenwick Falcons won. A dance at Central's gym that night and then the day was done.

Leaving the festivities following the game, Queen Sue and her escort, William Glaser, and driver, Thomas Brown, smile at the royal followers who cheer: "Hail to Sue the Queen! Hail to her Court!"

Tornadoes Play..

Tom Palmer, 24, junior halfback, attempts to score another touchdown for CC.

Brought down by a Newport tackle, is Central lineman Jerry Kaeser, as he attempts to gain a needed yardage.

Cleaning cleats between plays is only one of the many duties of manager Tony Bowers. Receiving the assistance is senior end, Eugene Orndorff.

Urbana Preview

SEPTEMBER 11

The Tornadoes began their 1959 football season by defeating the Bellefontaine Chieftains 8-6 in the Urbana Preview.

Cecil Seaman cashed in on a 58 yard run for Central's score. An aerial from Don Walsh to George Bianchi added the two points which decided the victory.

Mechanicsburg

SEPTEMBER 19

In the first home game of the season the Fighting Irish drubbed the Mechanicsburg Indians 34-0. The power-laden offense of Central, led by Seaman, had little trouble in wearing down the defense of the Indians.

All the Tornado touchdowns were made in the first and fourth periods.

Dayton Roth

SEPTEMBER 26

A bristling offense led by Jay Will, Dan Weeks, and Bob Shay ushered the Tornadoes to a 46-20 victory over Dayton Roth.

The first half of the game was all Irish and Roth seemed incapable of halting the Central attack. However, George Bianchi, senior end, suffered an injury which sidelined him for the rest of the season.

Lima Central

OCTOBER 2

Central's spirited eleven, with the odds against them, came through on one of the most outstanding performances of the season. They defeated the Lima Thunderbirds 6-0 bringing the Tornado winning streak to twenty straight games.

Jay Will and Dan Weeks provided the fuel to keep the Tornado drive moving and Weeks finally scampered fifteen yards into T. D. territory for the winning score.

This game also found a record-breaker in Dick Stahl's 66 yard punt.

Cincinnati McNicholas

OCTOBER 9

A determined Cincinnati McNicholas team shattered Central's twenty game winning streak by a 6-2 victory in Cincinnati.

The strong Central defense could not stop the Rockets from scoring early in the second period. With 32 seconds remaining in the game, Eugene Orndorff blocked a McNicholas punt for a safety and the Tornadoes' two points.

Teamfull Tunes

Newport

NOVEMBER 1

Old rivals of Central, the Rams of Hamilton, came up with a 46-0 victory over the Irish. Remembering their defeat of last year, the vengeance seeking Rams battered through the Tornado defensive line with apparent ease.

Hamilton's offensive attack practically enabled them to score at will.

Middletown Fenwick

OCTOBER 25

A muddy battle ended tragically for the Green and Gold at the 1959 Homecoming game as Middletown Fenwick racked up a 21-0 victory.

The Falcons crashed through the Tornado line to obtain a 14-0 halftime score. Credit must be given, however, to Captain Jerry Kaeser on his outstanding defensive play for Central.

Hamilton Catholic

OCTOBER 18

Victory came once again to the Tornadoes as they downed the Newport Thoroughbreds 20-8 at Hallinean Field. The Kentuckians found a capable offense and rugged defense in their Springfield foes.

Calling signals for the Irish was Don Walsh who sparked the team to another victory despite his injured hand.

Cincinnati DePorres

NOVEMBER 8

Snapping a two-game losing streak, the Tornadoes rolled over Cincinnati De Porres 38-22. Terry Whalen connected on two touchdown passes to Cecil Seaman and Dan Weeks which helped the Irish race to a 32-6 halftime lead. Others hitting pay dirt for Central were George Beach, Jay Will and quarterback Terry Whalen.

Columbus St. Charles

NOVEMBER 15

In the last game of the season, the Tornadoes fell before a strong Columbus St. Charles team with a 61-16 defeat.

With a great team effort Weeks crossed the goal line twice with two points being added by Will and Dennis. The entire spirit of the season was displayed in this last game.

Halfback Cecil Seaman breaks loose to try for a first down in the second game of the season with Dayton Roth.

Senior line backer, Don Walsh, 22, and junior, Terry Whalen, 23, attempt to recover the ball in a battle with Middletown Fenwick.

Central linemen Fred Bernstein and Tom Spahr delay a Roth tackler as halfback Dan Weeks explodes for short yardage.

Tornadoes Calmed During Fair Season ....

The Tornadoes faced difficulties throughout most of the season but their spirit was high and the boys were determined to play their best against the odds.

Basketball Yields Sceptre to "Strike three!" was the familiar call on March 18 as the Tornadoes started spring training to prepare for the busy season ahead.

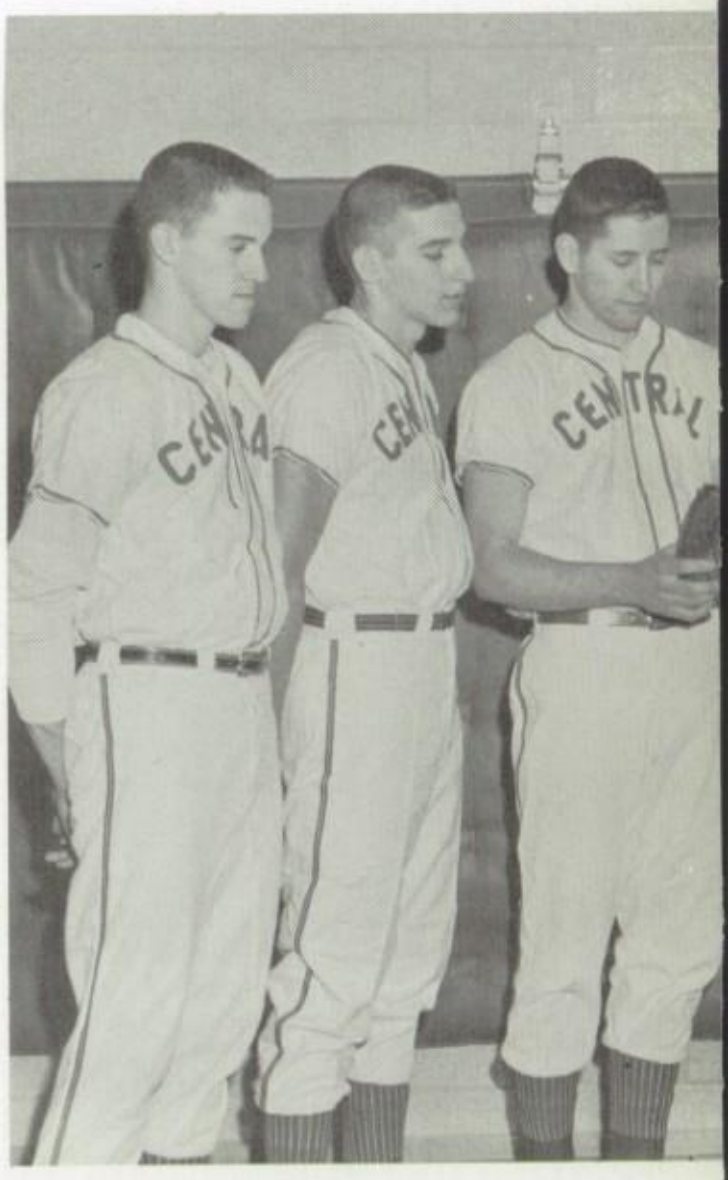
Starting April 2, the Tornadoes are to play double-headers every Saturday until May 14.

Central's league games will put them up against Columbus Watterson, Columbus St. Charles, and Newark. County schools fill in the open dates.

Under the supervision of Coach Bill Rankin, Catholic Central will again have a tennis team. Potential members are Louis Heil, Frank Grafton, Earl Cast, and Michael Hynes.

Last year the team played only one match in which they were defeated by Dayton Chaminade.

With high hopes for the future, the boys are looking forward to a full schedule with a portion of victories.



Invoking "Our Lady Queen of Victory" for another successful season are: Jim Hynes, Dick Stahl, Bob Cast, Ronald Belt, Steve Pappert, and Gus Elsener.

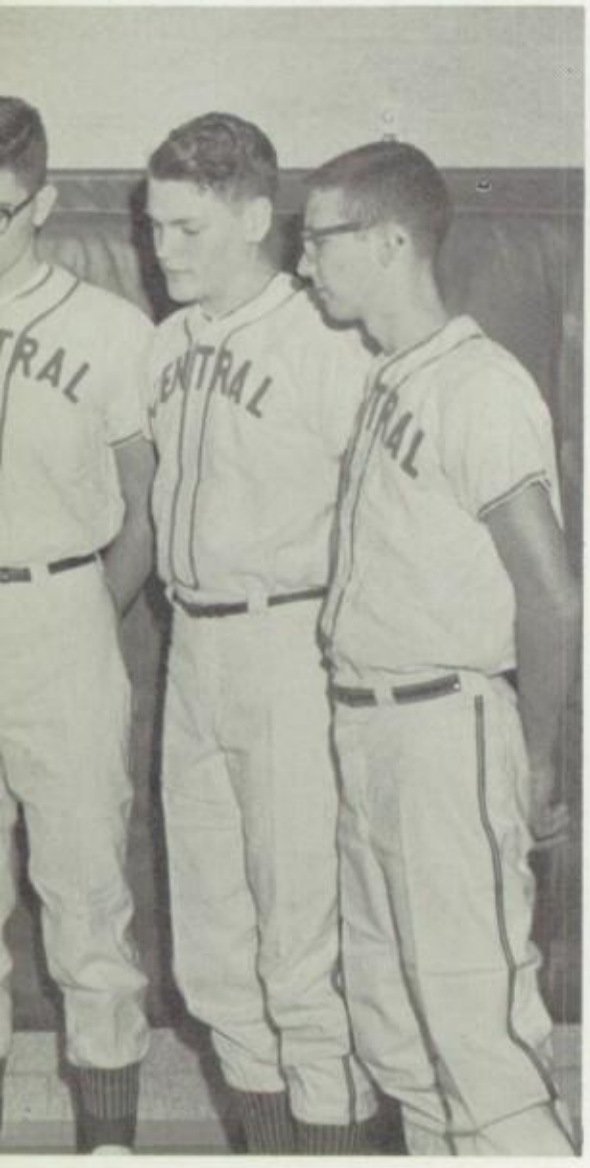
Eagerly awaiting sunny days and a game of tennis are: Louis Heil, Frank Grafton, and Michael Hynes.

Compiling a 12-1 record for the past two seasons, the Tornado golf squad seeks to maintain that record and equal the undefeated schedule of last year.

Coached by Father Heinl and captained by Ed Ullman, the linksmen began practice on April 14, in preparation for their ten-game schedule and the district tournament held at Troy.

Included among the Central foes are Springfield High, Middletown, Chaminade, Northwestern, Greenon, Troy, and Cincinnati Elder.

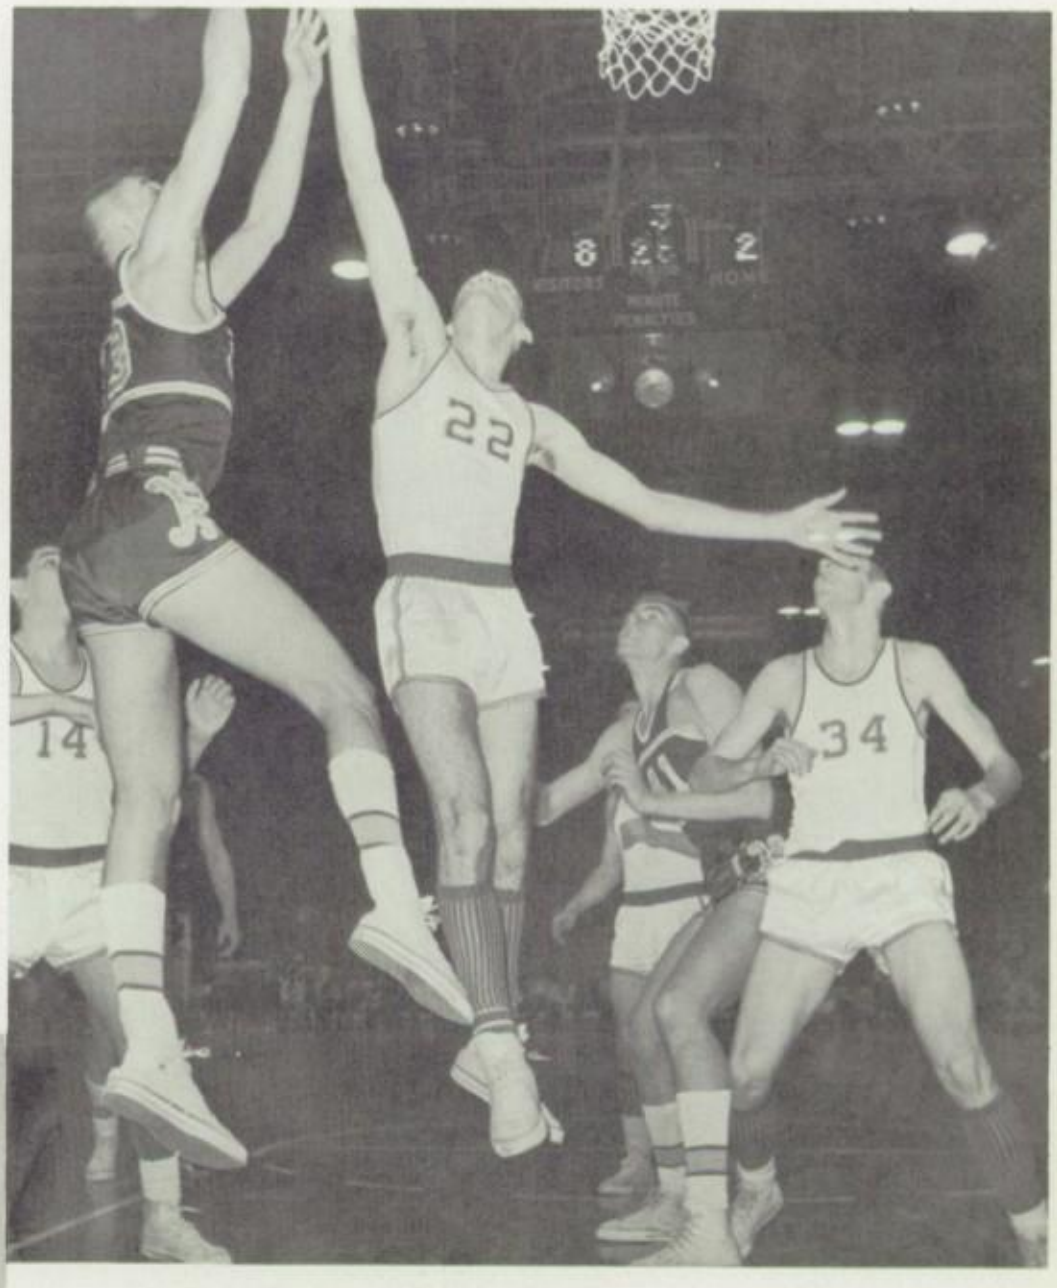
Baseball, Tennis and Golf . . .



ooking over their clubs and caps as spring begins to show signs f awakening are members of the golf team, Michael O'Keeffe, Martin astatter, Dan Rauch, Ron Foreman, and Ed Ulliman.

In the annual AA district tournament, Catholic Central was scheduled to meet their friend and neighbor Springfield High School. With Springfield High School's 13-5 season and Catholic Central High School's 5-13, the outcome seemed evident before the whistle blew in Hobart arena, Troy, on March 1.

The outcome, 72-25, Springfield's favor. Tourney Time was over for the Tornado cagers.



Stretching for the rebound against a Springfield High player is Tornado captain Don Walsh. Anxiously awaiting the fall of the ball are Eugene Orndorff 14 and George Bianchi 34.

St. Joseph

Guardian and Teacher

ST. JOSEPH was given the task of teaching the Son of God, his foster Son, in the carpenter shop in Nazareth.

Faith and love taught St. Joseph what his supreme privilege was. The God Man respected, admired, and loved Joseph, the Just Man.

We hope that we have kept very close to St. Joseph as we went through our high school classes, for we desire the love of learning as he loved the work of teaching.

We want St. Joseph to help us to build our adult lives. We want him to teach us how to keep very close to His Pupil of Nazareth's little shop.

Religion teachers stop for a few minutes during their work on the weekly Religious Bulletins.

Father Stephen Emerick, Father Paul Cooper, Father Francis Marinelli, Father David Heinl, Father Glen Perin, and Father John Bensman.

Faith...the Candle Which Lights the Way to God...

The four-year religion course, Quest for Happiness, was the text used by all Centralites this past year.

Father John Bensman, Father Paul Cooper, Father Stephen Emerick, Father David Heinl, Father Francis Marinelli, and Father Glen Perin are the instructors of the course.

Study of Our Goal and Our Guides prepared the freshmen for their high school course. The study included the liturgy, faith, and the virtues of prudence and humility.

The tenth grade's attention was drawn to the aim of their quest, To Love through Hope and Faith. This included not only the virtues of hope and faith but also the Redemption by Christ, and the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

The Ark and the Dove guided the junior class on their study. These guides represented the one true Church —the Catholic Church, and the Third Person of the Blessed Trinity—the Holy Ghost. They also studied the virtue of charity.

Reaching the climax of their quest, the seniors discovered the Infinite value of Extreme Unction at Death's call. The life of the Blessed Virgin Mary and her influence in their lives was their concern as was their choice of a future vocation.

As the course drew to a close, all agreed that they were more certain of their Quest for Happiness.

Giving juniors Roberta Welch, Judith Marshall, and Paul Ortman a "bird's eye view" of Church History is Father Francis Marinelli.

A great part of the junior religion period was spent in the study of Church History.

Looking forward to graduation and opportunities for Catholic Action are seniors Ruthellen Valley, Edward Estep, Paul Groeber, and Sue O'Neal, as Father Heinl explains the many opportunities open to high school graduates.

Beginning with the modern short story the sophomores start their second year of English literature with Prose and Poetry for Appreciation. In narrative poetry they meet Tennyson's Idylls of the King with "Gareth and Lynette".

They are introduced to the many forms of essays and acquainted with the biographies of great men.

For drama they read Shakespeare's Julius Caesar and lesser known plays of interest.

In studying lyric poetry the students meet some of the famous poets such as Poe, Sandburg, Frost, and Kilmer.

They also studied the modern full length novel, Hurricane by Nordhoff and Hall.

"Check," says Charles LaVelle to Richard Torlina as Kathleen Kelly reads the book reports, while Rosellen Summers double checks the final list for Sister.

Journeying into the literary world of their homeland, the junior English literature students study the Prose and Poetry of America.

In Colonial America they study the writings of Washington, Hamilton, and Patrick Henry.

The poetry of the nineteenth century America introduces the students to Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier, and America's golden age.

Fifty Missions, Chaplain Courageous, and The Oxbone Madonna were some of their studies of today's writers.

Preparing for tomorrow, the juniors wrote short stories, themes, and essays to develop talents and to apply the knowledge acquired by reading the American growth of Literature.

Characters Real and Fictional

In keeping with the third year outline of American Literature, juniors David Wood, Sandra Fitzgerald, Joyce Lonsway, and Eileen Dunn listen while Robert Titer plays an album on Abraham Lincoln "The Savior of the Union."

Judy Gardner points out on the calendar the date due for the quarterly book reports. Edward Mataitis holds a file card on which the book reports are written.

Rikki, Tikki Tavi by Rudyard Kipling, The Necklace by Guy de Maupassant, and The Diving Fool by Franklin M. Reck, are among the fine pieces of literature enjoyed by the freshman English classes at Central.

The new members of the student body find it an easy task to become interested in this course of modern prose and poetry.

Heading the list of top-notch drama is Merchant of Venice by Shakespeare. Besides making an intense study of the characters and setting of the play, the students prepared booklets and posters on the highlights.

Also, the English grammar, along with class discussion, make up the daily activities of these first-year students.

Written verse and oral book reports are demonstrated by the freshman English students, Melanie Hall and Anthony Horstman, as they ponder the advantages of the written word.

English Literature dominates the daily curriculum of the English IV students as they follow the literary styles in writing from the earliest periods of Anglo-Saxon literature to the Twentieth Century.

Considered a favorite of the early period was Beowulf. Shakespeare's Macbeth combined the mysterious and the supernatural to make an exciting and suspenseful drama showing the downfall of a Scottish nobleman, plotting to become King of Scotland.

A "hint of an explanation" is the theme as the Twentieth Century reveals the unexpected endings in stories by Graham Greene and G. K. Chesterton.

Unfold As Students 'Read to Know'

"Read to know; know to love," say the senior English students Phyllis O'Neill, Stephen Pappert, Judith Stine, Paul Groeber, Marianne Hellmuth, John Van Velzor, and Kathleen Grieves as David Dayberry exhibits the Book Week poster.

While Central boys are developing their God-given instincts in mechanical drawing and football, the feminine side of Catholic Central is busy learning the basic Christian principles on which their future homes will be based.

During the course of the year, the girls took turns at buying food for the laboratory and doing the laundry. To receive the full credit in Homemaking, the girls were required to complete four outfits. The last quarter of the year was devoted to management in the home.

Besides learning Christian principles, the girls also learn the right attitude in which these ideals should be carried out. This year the Homemaking students have been given a complete course in Home Nursing and Mother and Baby Care.

Maker of a Home

How to prepare and to serve breakfast is an essential in the cooking classes. The importance of this meal for the day's work is stressed in both the preparing and serving of breakfast at the beginning of the school course.

The first lesson is the realization that the center of every good home is God. First, you must be at peace with God, then you can learn how to get along with your family and friends.

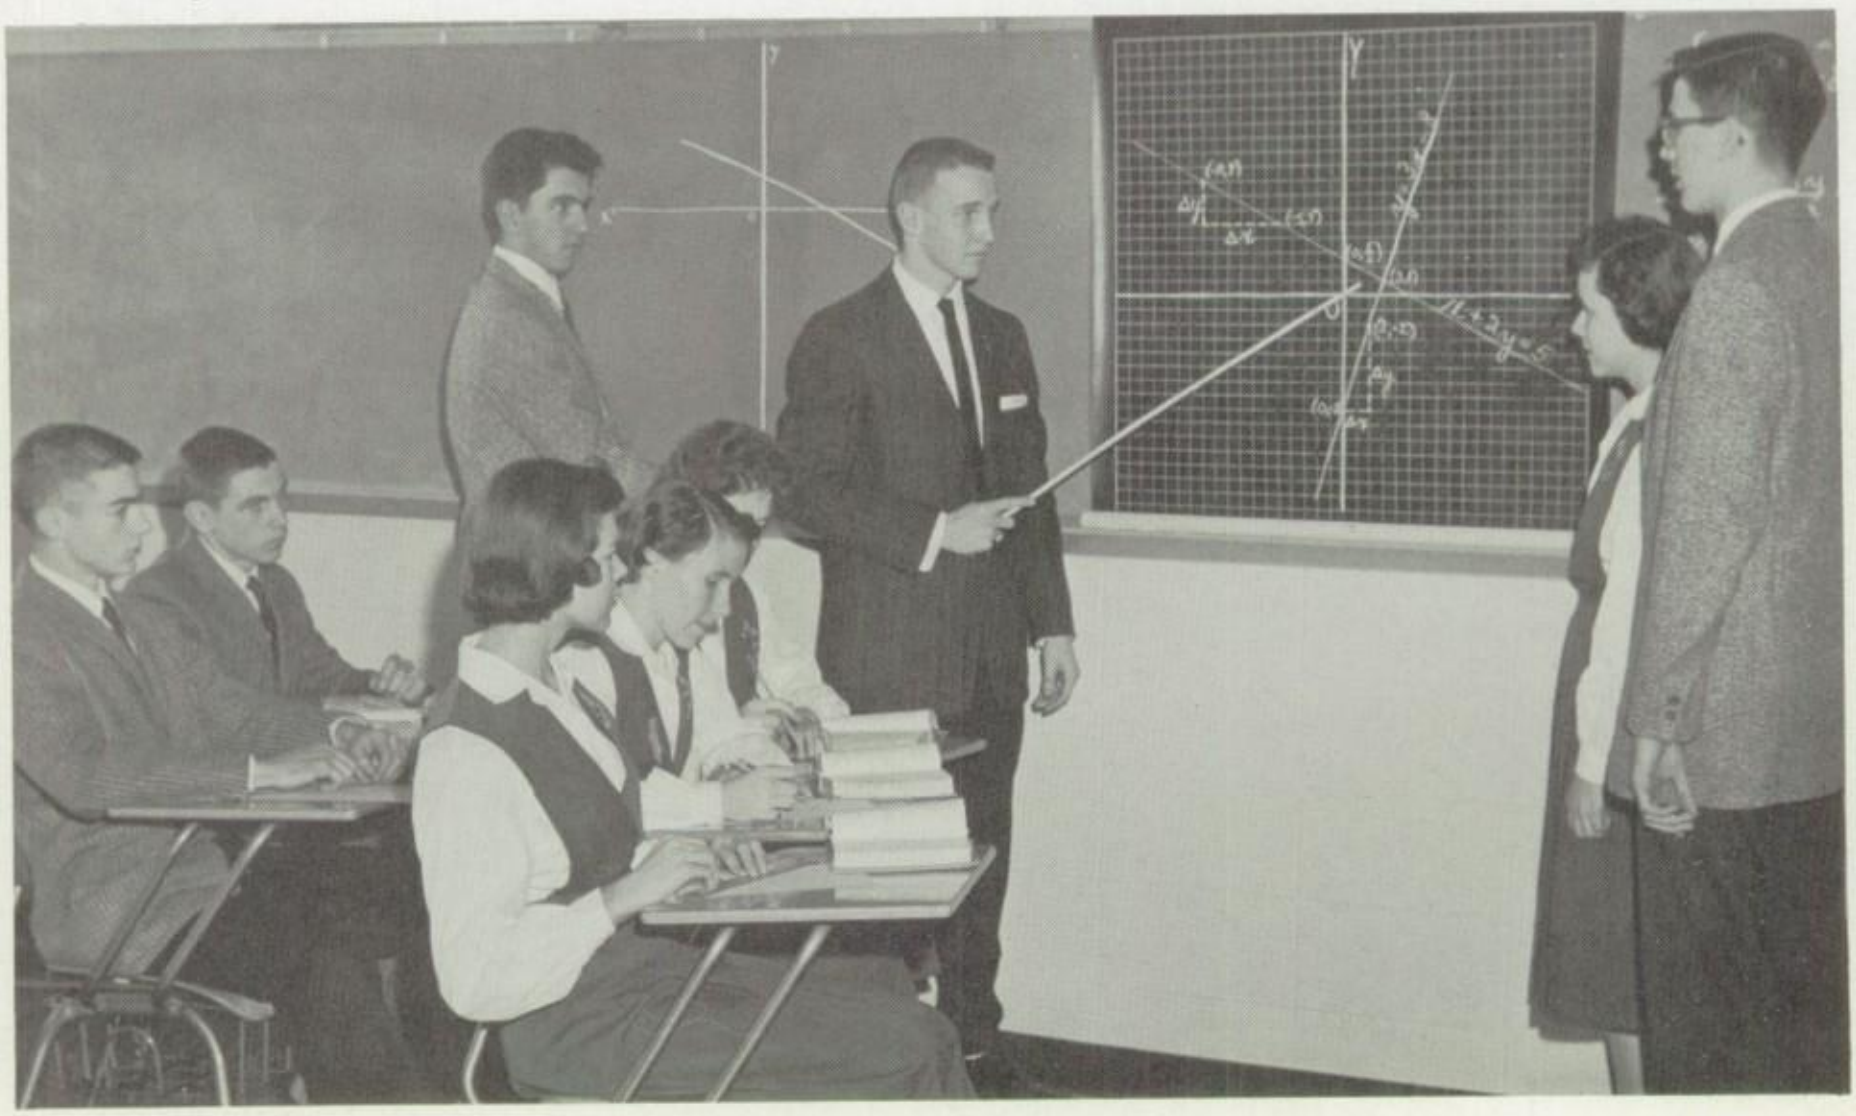
From angles to triangles, from perpendiculars to parallel lines, from trapezoids to circles, and from hypotheses to conclusions—thus have the sophomore geometry students created a new vocabulary.

At first glance, these terms can prove to be exasperating, but with Sister's help and direction and some intensive study, most of the obstacles can be overcome and even turn out to be enjoyable and new-found friends. Many of these amateur mathematicians have future plans in a variety of fields, including architecture and engineering, while still others find it essential in preparation for college.

Giving a verbal and picture description of a graphic eqution is Donald Scherzinger to seated Ralph Emmons, Robert Wiedeke, Mary Lou Klenke, Mary Alice Davis, and Kay Groeber, as William Greany, Nancy Meyer, and Ronald Belt look on approvingly.

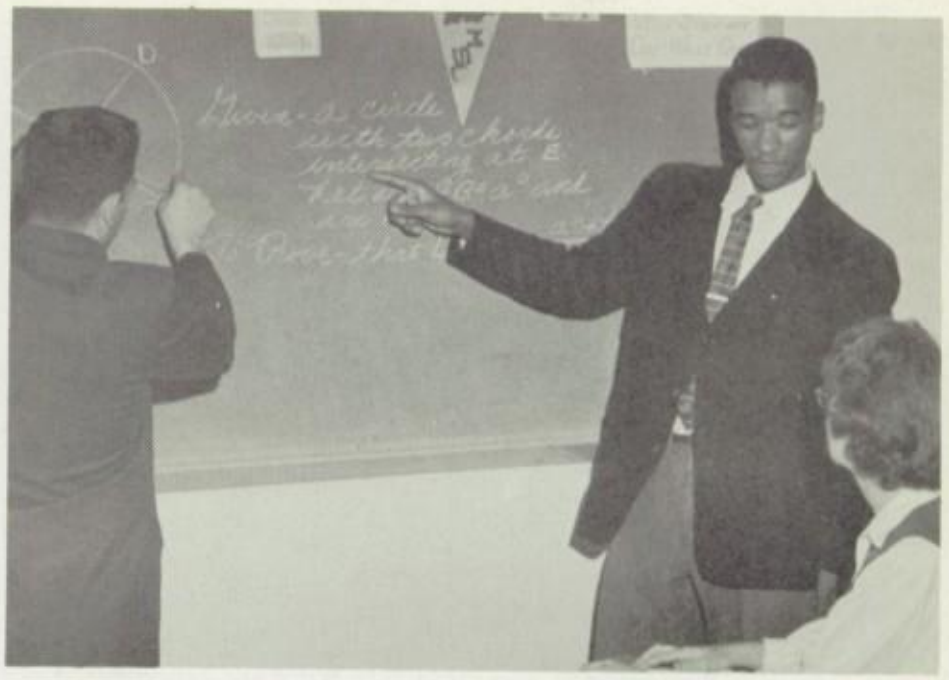


To Sine

Having braved equations for the solution of the unknown 'x,' and the mysteries of plane geometry, stalwart Centralites continue their study of mathematics in the study of Algebra II. Irrational numbers, exponents, determinants, and graphic and quadratic equations are all fast becoming "old stuff" to these quick-thinking students.

In their eager quest for knowledge, the spirit of learning having become an inspiration to them, and having conquered the basic fundamentals of higher mathematics, many of the students request to go on to some of the principles of trigonometry, including logarithms. "Gladly would they learn."

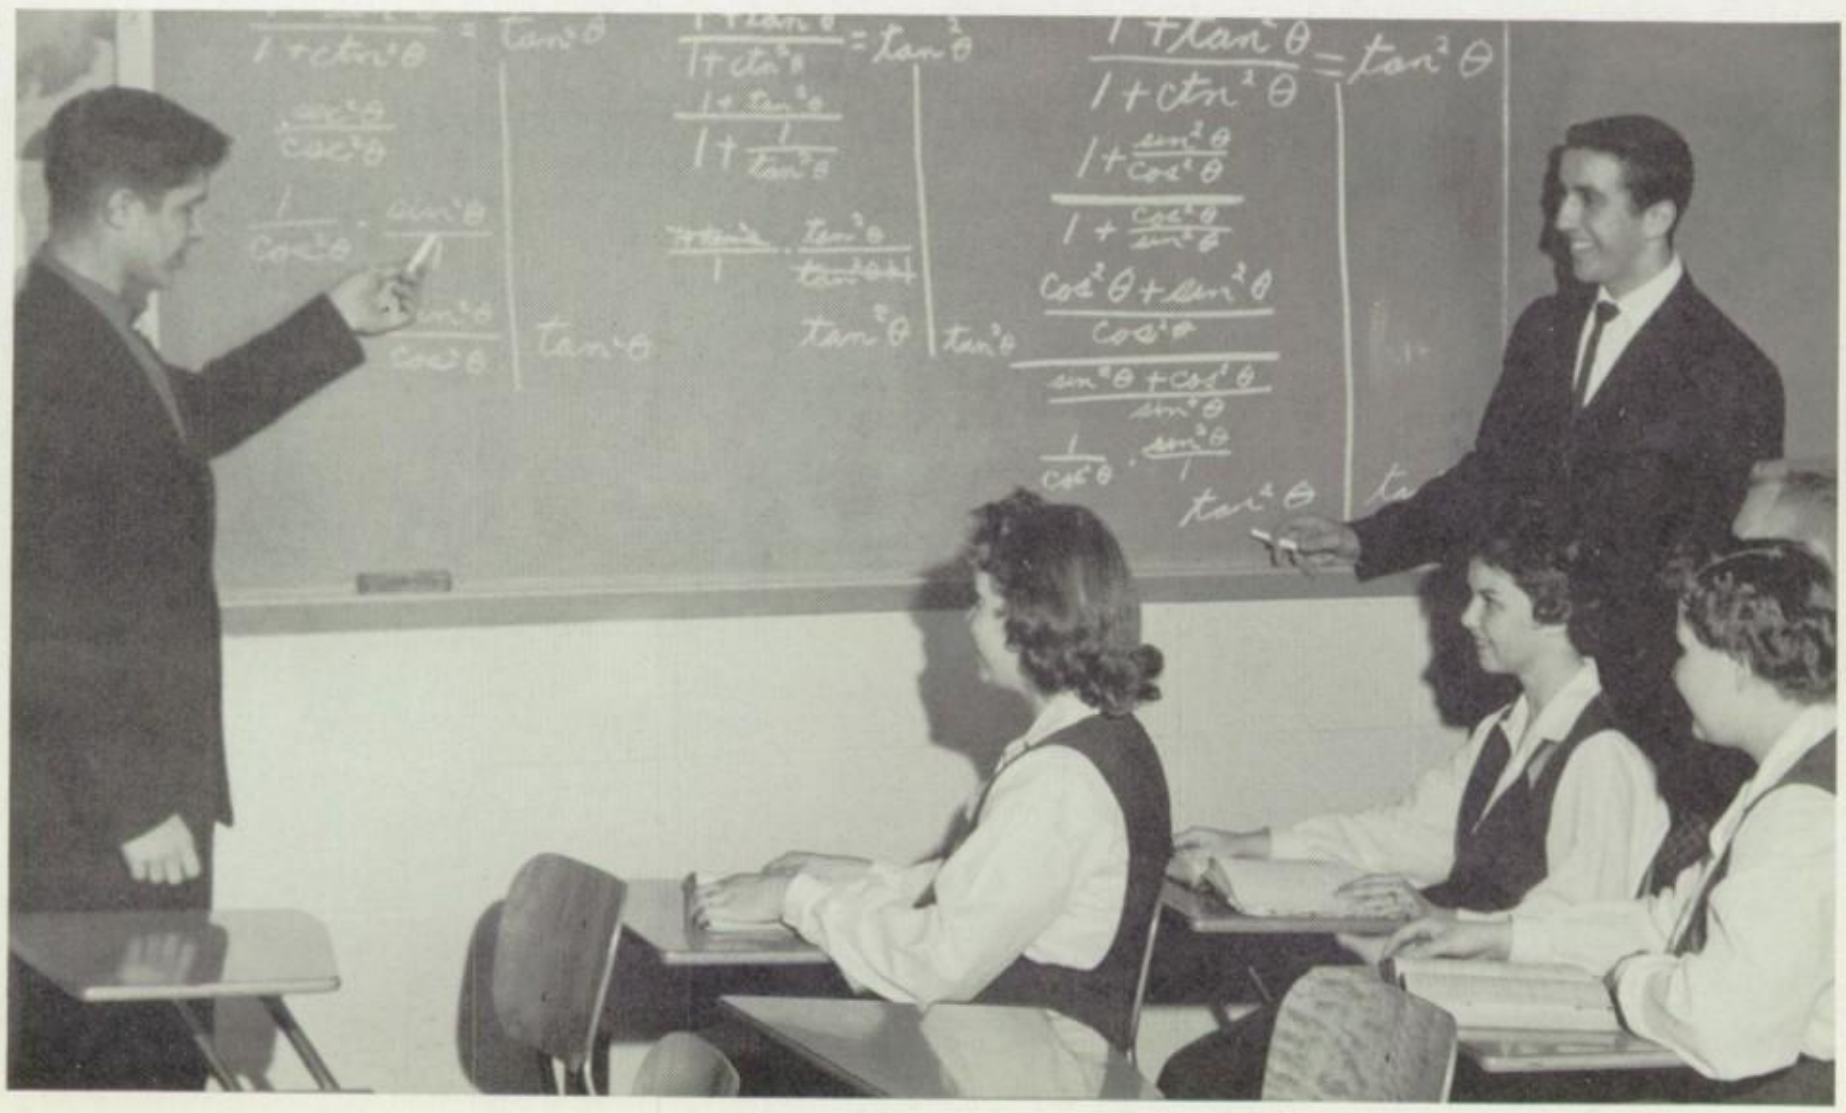
Functions and cofunctions; sine and cosine. All of these terms were familiar to the "Trig" students. The thirty members of this class formed one of the largest groups of fourth year math students at Central in recent years.



Describing the beginning of a plane geometry proof to Mary Ann McAllister is William Daniels as Charles Rivenburg constructs the circular figure.

During the first semester, trigonometric ratios, reciprocal functions, and logarithms were applied to solve right triangles, identities, and equations. Making three dimensional figures and learning corollaries were all a part of becoming experts in solid geometry which is taken during the second semester.

Explaining the fundamentals of identities to Patricia Lawarre, Sandra Pulaski, Jeanette Lonsway, and Virgil Broering is Douglas Marsh as James Anastasi eagerly awaits his turn.



Laws of electricity, heat, light, and sound, were again tested by the amateur scientists of discoveries to come. With the use of lab periods twice a week, the junior physics students put to use knowledge acquired during class lectures. Despite failures, the students were not discouraged, but became determined to succeed in the laboratory.

Observing the actions of young hamsters when not confined to their cage are sophomores Louis Heil and Karen Mertens. Actions of many animals are studied live in biology classes.

The scientists entered their endeavors of scientific knowledge in the Science Fair. The entries were awarded a grade of Honorable Mention, Excellent, or Superior, enabling them to enter the Regional Science Fair at Wittenberg University.

The students saw several movies during the course which proved helpful in their learning and added variety to the daily grind of class work.

"Watch that acid!" was the familiar cry as the chemists sought the mysteries of science. Equations, formulas, and chemistry laws were soon mastered and projects for the Science Fair begun.

Preparing to dissect the frog is sophomore biologist Gail Barone, as James Brewer, James Boure and David Asebrook examine the newest microscopic equipment.

Preparing their science projects for the annual Science Fair a senior chemists Judith Tucker, Carolyn Moran, Karen Wile, Jo

Science is Findin in Hi

Crystallization, water softening, and the study atomic structure were just a few of the challenges m by the chemistry students, and placed in the C.C.H Science Fair.

The entries were judged as nine Superior, twenty-o Excellent, and five Honorable Mention. At the Cla County Science Fair held at Springfield High Scho entries were rated as ten Superior, twelve Excellent a seven Honorable Mention.

Demonstrating the proper laboratory procedure for a phys experiment on measurement are: First row: John Riley, Fra Murray, Terrence Whalen, Michael O'Keeffe, and Thomas Palm rtin, Deanna Juergens, Edward Estep, Thomas Gnau, Patrick Pick- Patrick Fitzsimmons.

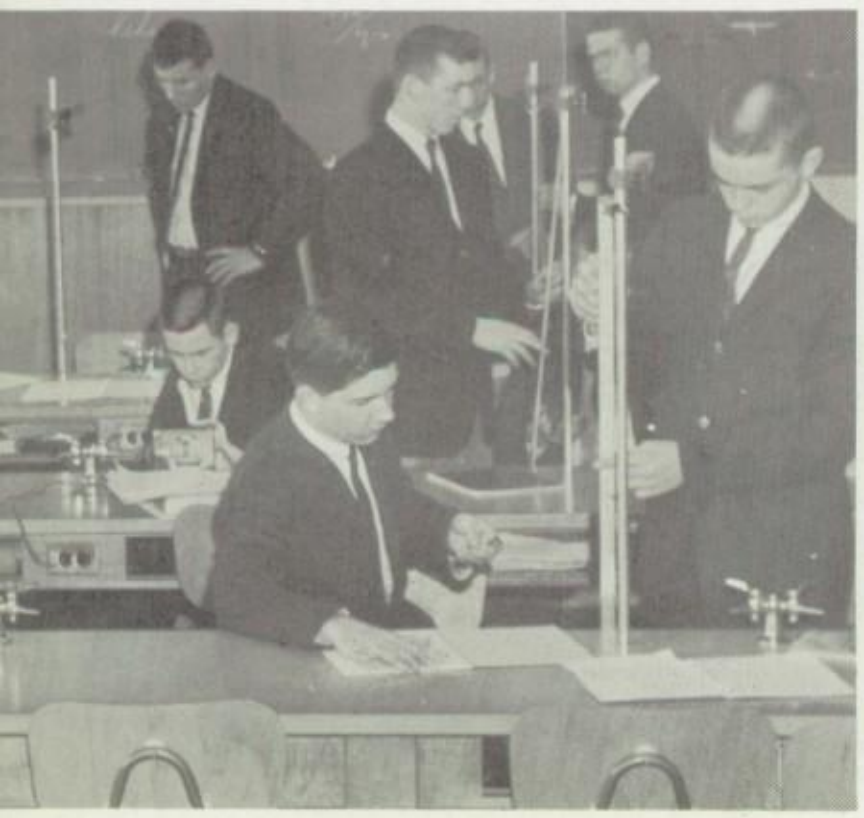
God's Secrets Universe

On December 18, science students took the National ience Talent Search Test. Although none placed high the contest, the knowledge they learned from it will e very useful in their future years.

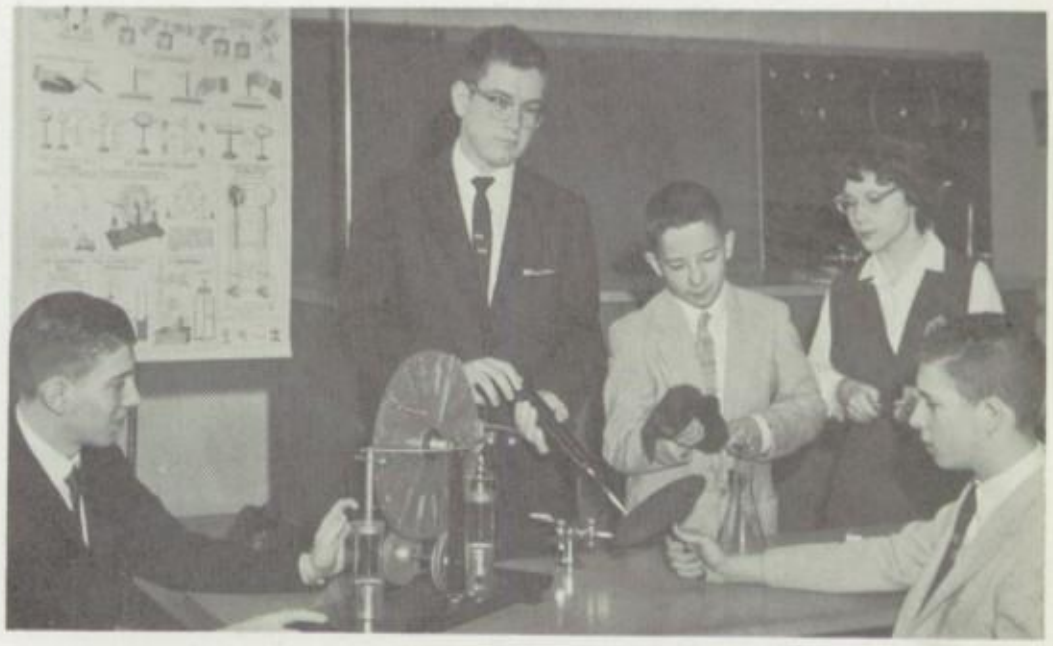
Groans and moans resounded through the lower halls the biology students faced their first lab period. Boys ere eager, while the girls dreaded the thought of cut- g up those "poor little creatures."

nd row: George Reamer, Michael Shay, Frank McManus, Mi- Jordan and William Hannon. Third row: George Donahue, st Elsener, Charles Pitt, Nicholas Eancheff, Robert Derr, and as Baehl.



Leaf, bug, and wild flower collections were some of the highlights of the beginner's biological studies.

Soil conservation, growing, and the habitation of fish were some of the Science Fair entries from the biology class. Long hours of study and work were rewarded at the judging. The projects that survived the Regional Fair were submitted to State competition at Columbus, Ohio.



Hoping to produce an electrical spark while showing the different methods used in the laboratory are freshmen science students Richard Groeber, John Everhart, William Nangle, Marilyn Green, and Daniel Moon.

Spacemen come of age as astronauts of tomorrow are General Science students of today. Studying the moon and stars were just a few of the tasks of these young scientists, as photosynthesis, the decomposition of water, and electricity were also introduced to the young science majors.

Eager to participate in their first Science Fair, many projects were exhibited in both Catholic Central's Fair and the Regional Fair at Springfield High.

Examining the human organs by means of the latest equipment are sophomores Barbara Ferree, Philip Horstman, and James Brewer. The organs can be removed from the torso for closer examination.

Preparing for the future as secretaries and office workers and for entrance into college, are the students of the business courses. Filing, preparing a stencil, taking dictation, and many of the intangibles are studied in the business department.

Balancing the books is of special importance to the bookkeeping students. They learn the fundamentals of double-entry bookkeeping.

A popular course in the business department is typewriting. During the first year the students learn the basic principles. In advanced typewriting, high speeds, intuitive letter placement, and other production problems are mastered.

Pointing to a credit in the adjustments column of a model work sheet is Norma Minnick as Barbara Foreman, Carol Ross, and Teresa Neu listen to her explanation.

Fleeting Fingers Form Figures,

Trying for greater speed and accuracy in their typewriting are first row: Richard Myers, Sharon Wead, Mildred Brown, Theresa Shay, Sharon Diltz, Mary Lyons, and Daniel Campbell; second row: Carolyn Moran, Ruth Shanahan, Elizabeth Carlos, Carolyn Doyle, Carolyn Decker, Margaret Kepler, and Richard Asebrook.

Of the 47 typewriters there are 7 different makes of machines available to business students at Catholic Central. Predominant among these are the Royal manual, and the IBM electric.

Students have an opportunity to use each make of machine during the course of the year. To assure high speeds accompanied with accuracy, the business students are permitted and encouraged to do extra practice in the department outside of school time, under supervision.

The typewriting students are graded on the combination of their speed and accuracy. Speed writings, or timings, consist of one-minute writings with only perfect copy accepted; one-minute writings of numbers, with only perfect copy accepter; five minute writings must have no more than 2 errors and ten minute writings may have no more than five errors.

The production work consists of various jobs from the typewriting text which are similar to real office jobs, such as, typing letter styles, invoices, memoranda, tabulations, centerings, rough drafts, arrangements, and the like.

The grading, done weekly for the production, is geared to assure proofreading and good quality work on the job. One error on any of the production means non-mailable material, or unacceptable work.

At the end of the marking period the speed (timings) and production (mailable work) are combined to average one mark.

Preparing the electric Gestetner, a mimeograph machine, for operation are office practice students Linda Martin, Sharon Wead, and Mary O'Neill.

Office practice acquaints the students with proper office procedures. According to the rotation plan, each student spends a week or more at each of the various office machines available. A special feature of this class is assisting for a week in Central's main office. These students typewrite, mimeograph, and assemble the weekly religious bulletins.

Business Correspondence, a new course at CCHS this year, presents the fundamentals of business, to senior students. Spelling, sales, and Church and labor relations are a few of the subjects that are covered in this course.

Phrases to Keep 'Top Flight'

Business students were eligible for the NOMA Spelling Test. The contest, sponsored by the National Office Management Association, encourages accurate spelling.

Gregg Shorthand Speed certificates are anxiously sought by the stenography students. These awards are given for correct transcription of letters dictated at speeds from 60 to 120 words a minute. Speed awards are also available for competent typists.

Personality pointers and courteous business decorum also add a finishing touch to the Catholic Central graduate.

First year shorthand acquaints the students with the fundamental theory of the course. The second year is devoted to acquiring transcription skills and faster speeds.

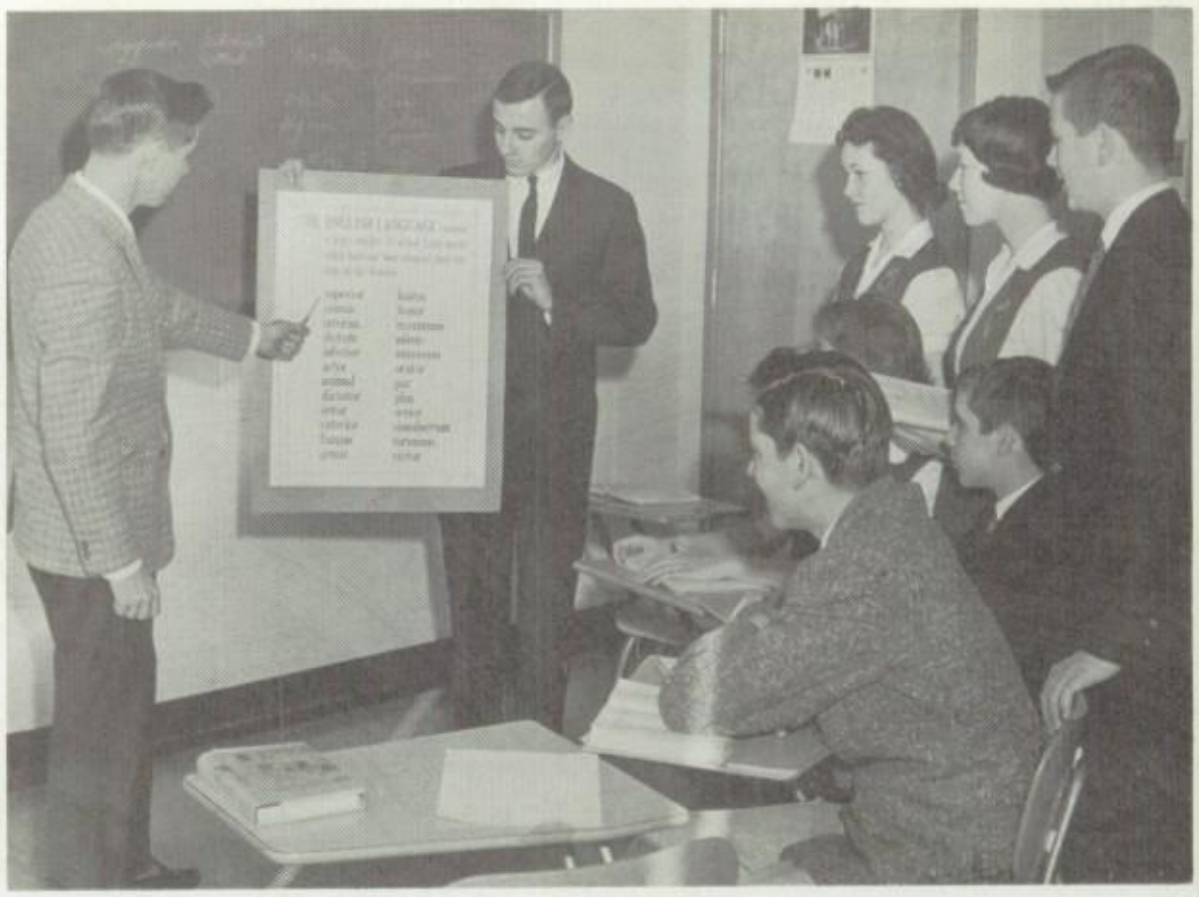
Latin ... the Key to all Professions

Latin, the so-called dead language, is very much alive to students at Catholic Central.

Learning the fundamentals—vocabularies, declensions, and conjugations—freshmen enthusiastically pitched into the first year of Caesar's language. Games, such as Hangman, helped them over difficult places and were the highlights of interesting classes.

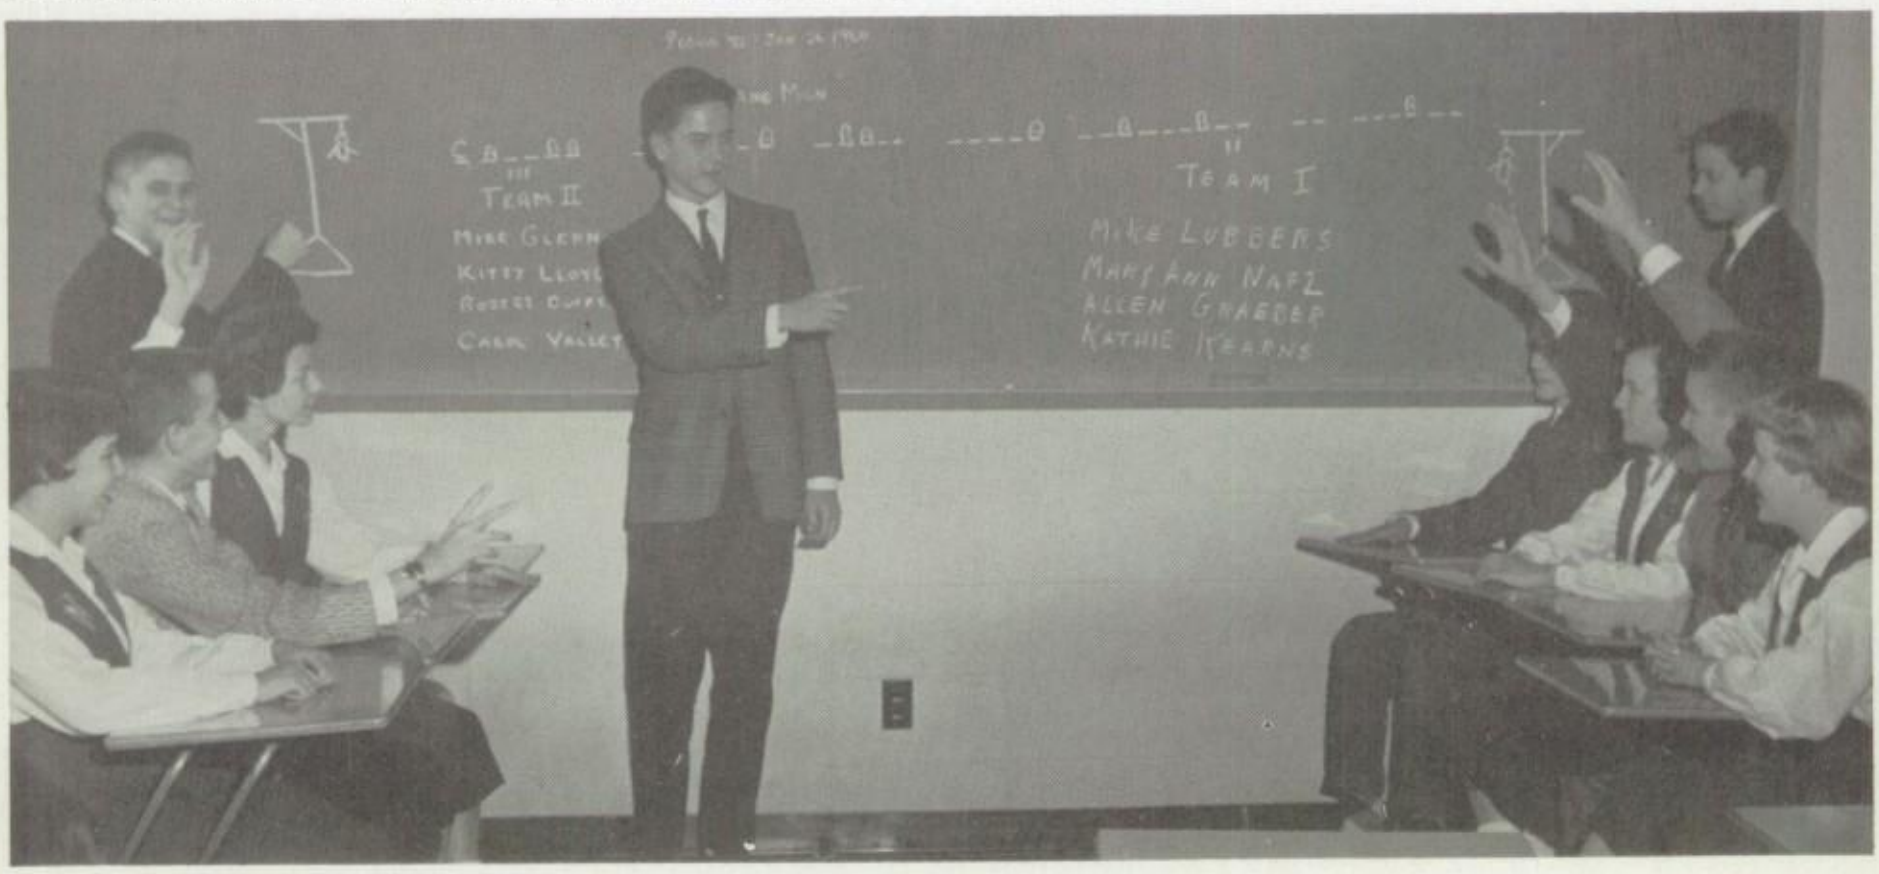
Second year Latin took students back to the days of Caesar, the Roman conqueror, the Gaelic Wars, and mythology. A Latin Club, connected with the A.P.S.L., the Association for the Promotion of the Study of Latin, begun this year under the direction of Sister Mary Lorenza, helped to encourage and interest them.

The speeches of Cicero, philosopher and orator, gave Latin III students a chance to gain a better insight into Roman history and some of its outstanding events and people.



Pointing to a list of English words that have not been changed from the Latin is Pat Burns. Watching the demonstration are standing: Martin Rastatter, Patricia Green, Mary Metzger, Michael Whalen, and seated: David Bender, and Michael Hannon.

Two students, Louise Habeeb and Paul Groeber, wishing to continue their Latin, were given the opportunity to do so by Sister Mary Honora during second period several times a week. Their study on the Aeneid of Virgil, included the translation of four books.



Enjoying the popular game Hangman, in Latin, are Carol Valley, Robert Duffy, Katherine Lloyd, Michael Lubbers, Mary Ann Nafz, Allen Graeber, and Kathleen Kearns. Scorekeepers are John Weitzel, Michael Glenn, and John McEvoy.

A pleasant journey is bade to the Spanish I and II students as they learn the Romance language. Having set off on their travels through the Spanish speaking countries, the first year students learned the language, while the second year class gained a wider knowledge of Spanish history.

During the Christmas season, the students celebrated foreign fashion by singing Christmas carols written in Spanish.

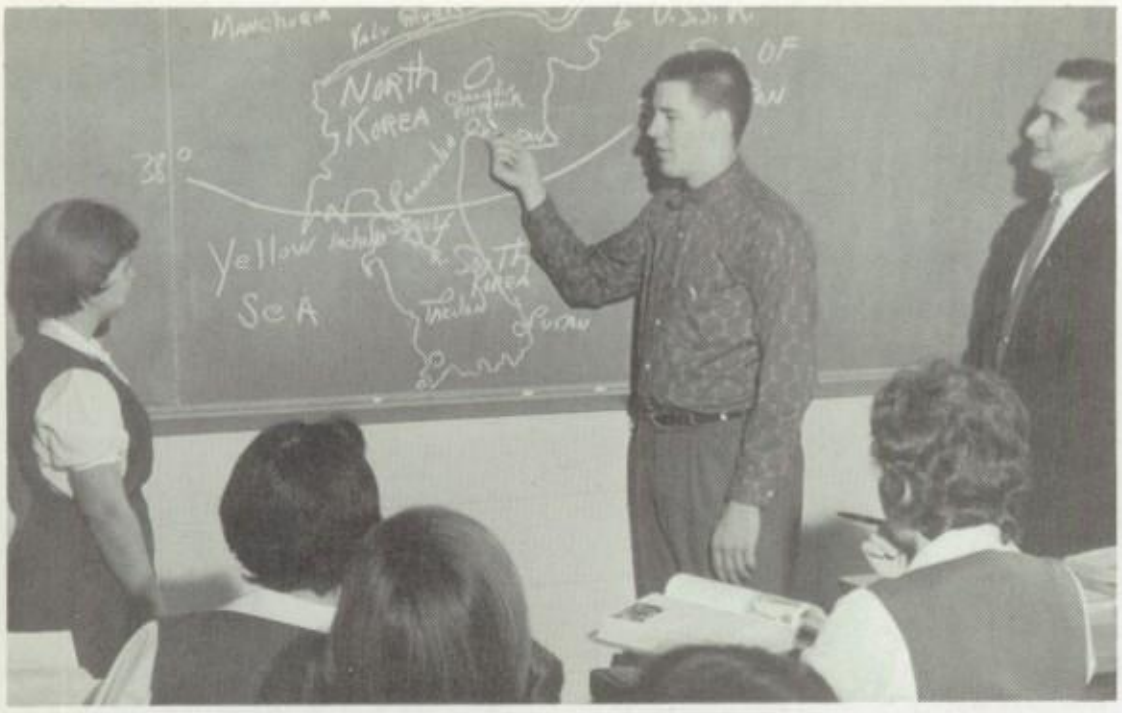
A personal project was made by each student on such topics as "La Pinata," a game of the Spanish children, maps and stories of the Spanish-speaking countries, and Mexican dolls.

The Spanish II class presented a program on Guadalupe to the first year classes.

Spanish . . . the Language of Good Will

Books are keys to wisdom's treasure; Books are gates to lands of pleasure; Books are paths that upward lead; Books are friends. Come let us

Playing a popular Spanish card game are members of the Spanish II classes. Seated: Barbara Ferree, James Brim, James Brewer, Barbara Laihr, Linda Gilmartin, and William Brickman and standing: Fred Krupp, William Fogarty, Cassandra Williams, and Vicki Bianchi.



Outlining the Korean war for an American history class is junior Jay Will. Listening to the discussion are Judy Jackson and Mr. Richard Costello, teacher.

To understand better the work of our forefathers, to grasp a better hold on events of our early nation, and also to give a more complete knowledge of good citizenship are a few of the reasons why such a vital interest is taken in the American History classes.

These alert students discuss events of our history from the causes of the War of Independence to the present day Vanguards. However, the outstanding challenge of the course is a two thousand word theme on a special event of the Civil War.

Bi-weekly discussions on America Today keep students alert to the times.

Their Story

A new type of study, one dealing with the human society, is presentd to the seniors in sociology.

Current events, debates, and oral reports, all dealing with up-to-date material, make up part of this planned course.

This group has been especially interested in providing wholesome recreation for high school students. Evidences of their efforts are shown in the activities section of the yearbook.

The presidential election, one of the main events of the time, is discussed very widely by the senior students. Many criticisms are given by the members of the class. Panel discussions help the students to give their final appraisal of the candidates.

Getting acquainted with day to day news articles concerning the economic, social, and political aspects of life are senior sociology students Mary Groves, Charles Krumholtz, and Marianne Hellmuth.

Learning how one can best serve his country as a good Catholic citizen, are the sophomore World History classes of Catholic Central.

In these classes, the characters from "days of old" are brought to life once again as the students study their lives and the situations which confront them.

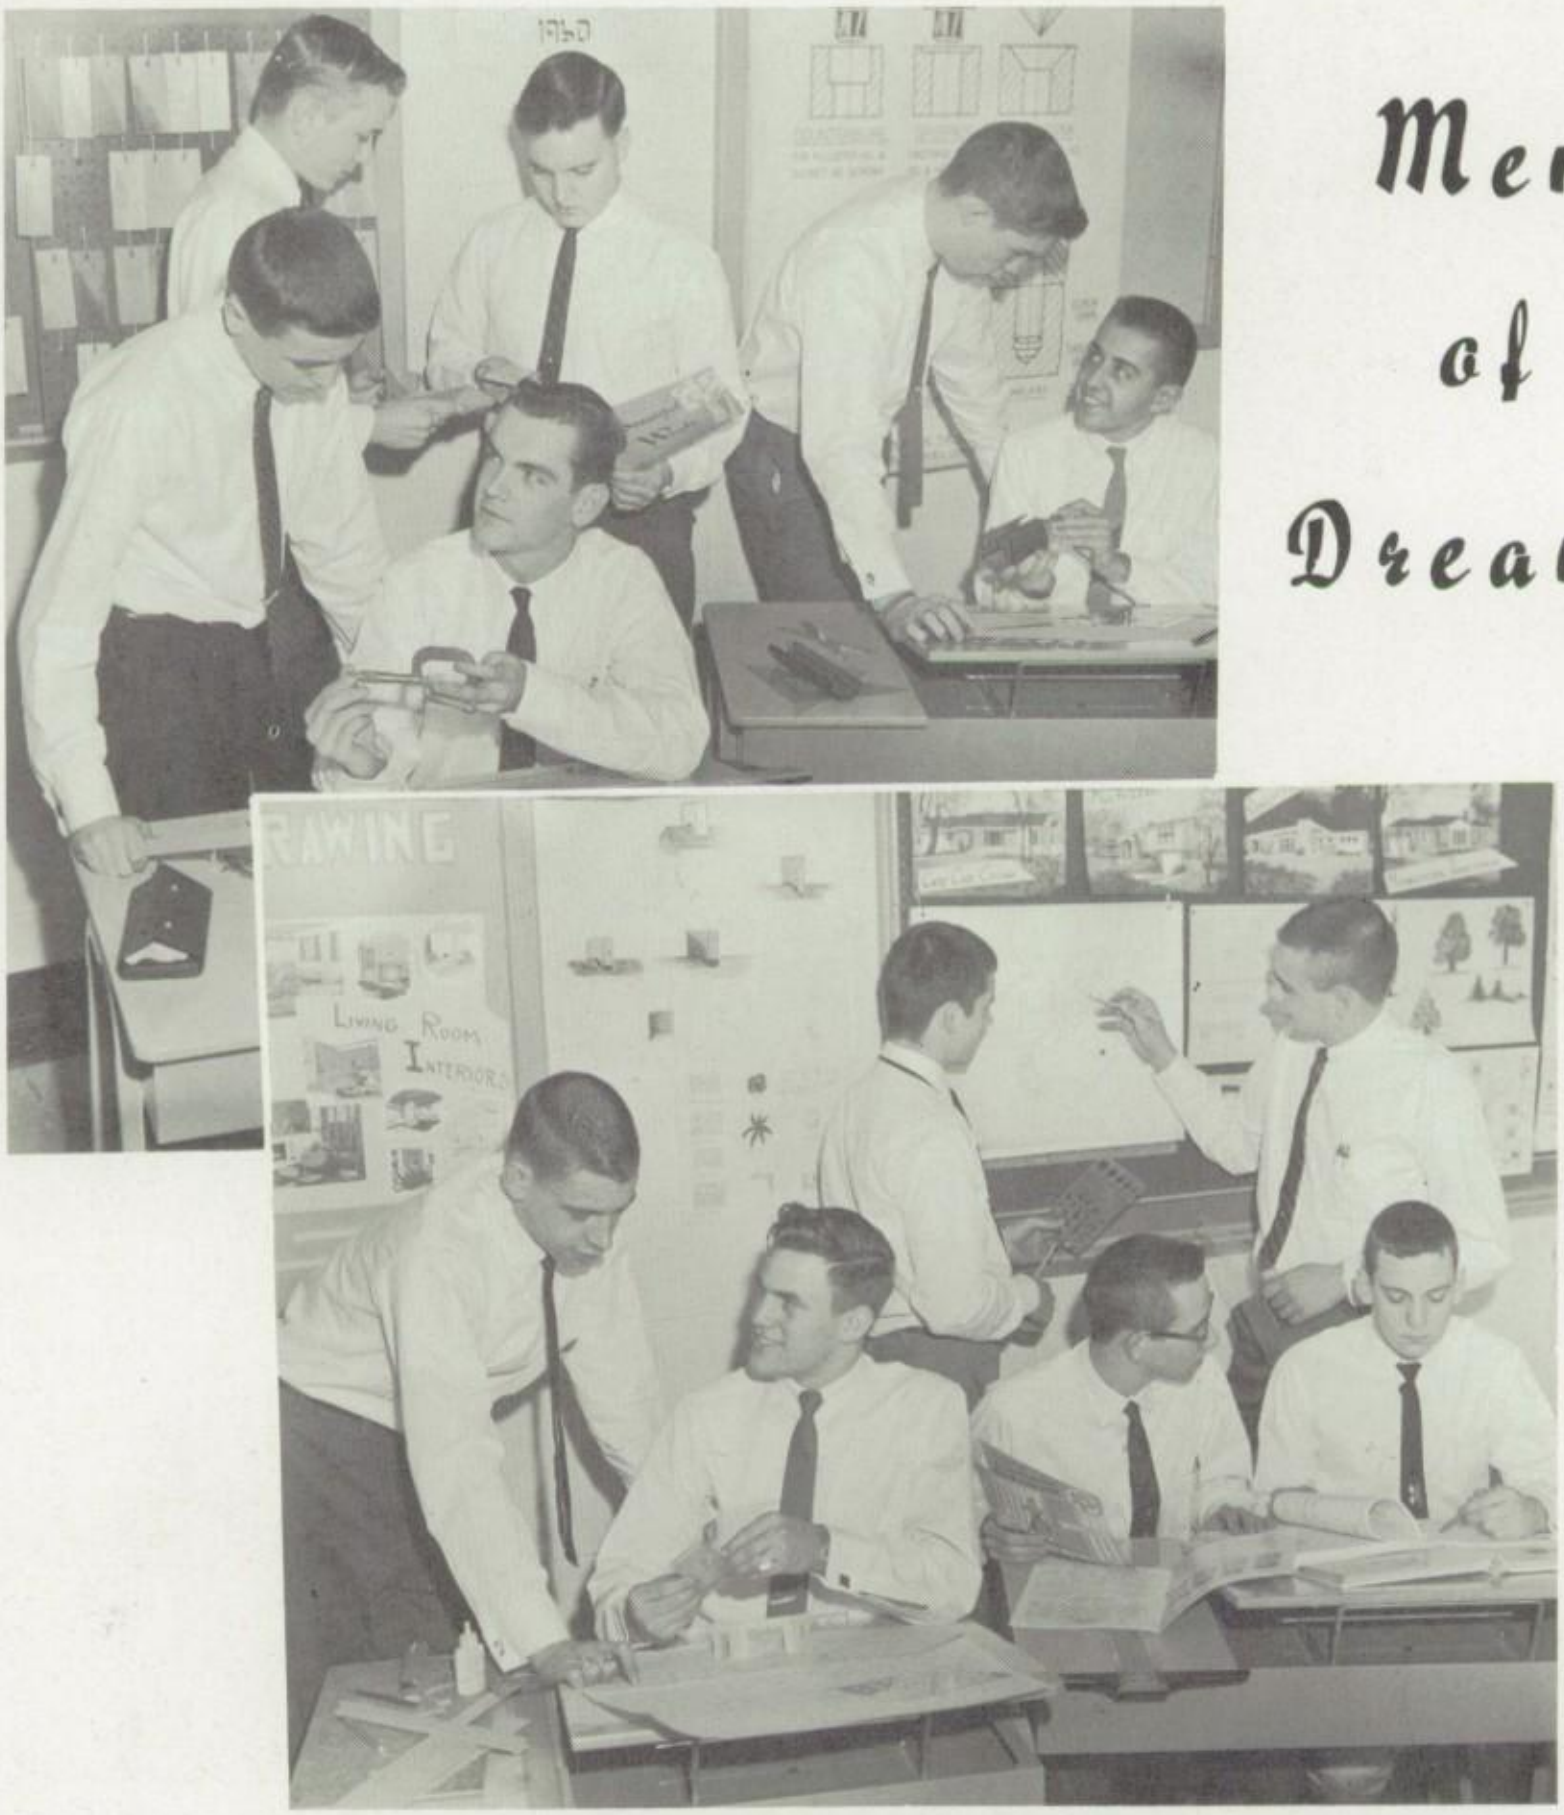
Among the major activities in which the students take part are: the drawing of posters, and the construction of figurines and settings of the period which they are studying.

Taking notes as Michael Dunn points out locations of present-day interest are: Richard Rolfes, Ann Kavanaugh, Constance Thompson, and Joyce Raymond.

Mechanical Drawing is that phase of industrial art which includes a broad study of materials, organization, tools, and human problems of industry. As the Language of Industry, it is through understanding and skill in this area of language education that Catholic Central helps its students to desirable adjustments to their physical and economical environment, even though they may not use the art for making a living.

Technical objectives of the course in Mechanical Drawing I include the development of understanding and skill in shape and size description, strengthening of the constructive imagination, and the modern commercial practice in drawing and blue printing.

Men of Dreams



First year students Terrence Wead and Phil Shufeldt consult the wood sample display. Mark Rowland and Joseph Wolbert put a calipers to good use, while John Grimm shows Frank Meyers that a micrometer does help him solve his drawing problem.

Intensely interested in planning for a "home in the future" Richard Martin and Ronald Foreman study interior details; Joseph Lemmons and George Simons discuss window and door schedules, while Patrick Fitzsimmons and John Van Velzor construct a house model.

Mechanical Drawing II enriches the students' growth through the study of and practice in sheet metal pattern developments, intersections, pictorial drawing, perspective, isometric and cabinet, and machine shop assembly drawing involving screw thread representation.

Life in Central's drafting room means learning to shoulder responsibility, work with others, develop initiative in problem solution, making decisions, meeting production schedules and producing neat, accurate work. Sounds like work! It is, but it's fun too—this way of striving to achieve better Christian adult living.

Mary....

Mother of Our Faith

WE THINK OF MARY according to our state in life. Parents think of her as caring for her Divine Son. Sisters honor her as the first maiden to consecrate her life to God.

Priests revere her as the one who prepared for the Great Sacrifice of Calvary . . . the Sacrifice of the Mass. We could think of her as a child in her home and in the Temple.

However, we wish to think of her as our Mother. We need her help and her guidance, her solicitude and her love. May she ask her Divine Son to change the water of our lives into the wine of His Love.

Discussing the projects of their clubs are: at center, Louise Habeeb, vice-president of the Student Council and of the National Honor Society; and James Duffy, Student Council president.
At left are the National Honor Society officers, Carolyn Moran, treasurer; John Martin, president; and Kathleen Hackett, secretary.
At the right are: Theresa TenBarge, secretary; Sandra Townsend, treasurer; Fred Bernstein, president; and Edward Mahoney, vice-president of the CSMC.
Top row are the senior class officers: Clarette Bell, treasurer; Richard Asebrook, vice-president; Deanna Juergens, co-ordinator of activities; Donald Walsh, president; and Louise Akers, secretary.

Representing the 1960 senior class at Catholic Central are: Donald Walsh, president; Richard Asebrook, vice-president; Louise Akers, secretary; Clarette Bell, treasurer; and Deanna Jurgens, co-ordinator of activities.

These officers, who were elected in May of last year, were busy planning activities for the seniors during the summer months. As a result, an Interlude Party was held in the middle of the summer.

At the opening of school this fall, these officers welcomed the freshmen and arranged for a get-acquainted party. Each senior also adopted a freshman as his little brother or sister throughout the school year.

These officers spent the remainder of the year in planning such activities as Career Day and Recollection Day for the seniors. They also helped with the annual class play.

The senior class officers also co-operated with the Student Council in such projects as Retreat, Homecoming, and the Talent Show.

The officers of the National Honor Society and the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, CSMC, also helped the senior class and the Student Council officers in activities and interests of the past school year.

Getting ideas from exchanges for their issues of the Centrib are the junior journalists.
Seated: Roberta Welch, Henry Sibbing, Gloria Gordon, and Mary Nigh.

Editors Form Link Between Classes

Planning their last edition of Centrib are, seated, Linda Gilmartin, Karen Hawver, Sandra Townsend, John Martin, Jean Dettenwanger, Marjorie Reeb.

Standing: Mary Kay Kuss, Robert Gootee, Judith Tucker, Richard Blazer, Martha Brown, Carolyn Moran, and Sue Walsh.

Pens flash, typewriters click, and dummies are drawn, as the journalists near deadline. Ending their career as news reporters, the seniors left the fifth and sixth issues of Centrib to their loyal supporters, the juniors.

However, English literature and grammar were not neglected as time was given to authors, plays, novels, and parts of speech.

The Juniors

Shouldering responsibility, five juniors took their offices for the 1959-60 school year. Elected home room presidents were John Riley 308; Thomas Heflin 311; Terrence Whalen 313; and Thomas Palmer 315. John Riley was voted in as Junior Class president and Joyce Lonsway as vice-president.

Attending Student Council meetings, keeping their fellow classmates well informed on school activities, and urging greater enthusiasm in scholarship are a few of the many duties carried out during the year.

Toward the end of the junior year, they began to take on more and more responsibility in order to prepare themselves to be leaders of the school during their senior year.

One evidence of this newly acquired leadership was found in arranging for the Junior-Senior Prom, as well as other activities around the school.

As junior officers write "finis" to their 1959-60 school year, they pray for a happy, wholesome, and holy vacation for their classmates, and a happy return to their classroom and senior days.

St. Teresa

the Little Flower of Jesus

ST. TERESA spent her life doing for others.

for the Love of God. She would spend her Heaven doing good upon earth, and she would let fall

"a shower of roses".

Central students thought of her as they made the honor roll, participated in extra-curricular and civic affairs.

These are the "roses" they have gathered. They form a bouquet to lay before Christ the King as their

"Thank You" to God, their parents, priests, Sisters, and lay faculty for the tremendous privilege of a Catholic high school education.

Blasting off on October 26, the Spires Spacemen launched their drive to sell space in the school yearbook.

Upon leaving the launching pad, the Spacemen proceeded on tranjector into orbit around downtown Springfield.

The first stage of the drive was slow because of the shortage of pep fuel but nearing zero hour, booster rockets were fired, giving the Spacemen the desired thrust to boost them over their goal.

Landing at noon on November 9, the Spacemen boasted "Mission Accomplished" and each had sold more than One Hundred Dollars advertising space.

The Apostolic Blessing

Most Holy Father

To the Staff and

Members of the Spires,

Year Book, on the occasion of their Twentieth Anniversary, humbly prostrate at the feet of Your

Holiness beg a special

Apostolic Blessing

Maximum benigne annuit precibus

Ex Audientia Vaticana die 28 Sept. 1960.

+ Didacus Venini

Archiep. - Idaren.

We close our book with the blessing of our Holy Father, Pope John XXIII, upon our work and upon the members of the Spires yearbook.

May the remembrance of this blessing of the Vicar of Christ help us to renew our desire to become saints so that at the end of our lives we may receive the blessing of Christ Himself which will welcome us to Heaven, to Him, and to Home!

From Bauer come such achievements as a revolutionary system for making groundwood type pulp from chips—a process which employs other Bauer innovations like the Pressafiner, the Bauer Double Disc Refiner, the Centri-Cleaner, and the Bauer Pressure Refiner.

M. E. Ginaven, C. K. Textor, J. C. Shouvlin, A. J. Horstman and Lee Eberhardt are just a few of the men at Bauer who contribute to the advancement of the pulp and paper industry through the development of unique ideas, machine designs, and processes.

To Judy,

Always stay as sweet and nice as you are now. You are really cute and have a wonderful personality. I hope we can always stay good friends no matter what. Best of luck in the future.

Love Always,
Vicki

To Judie,
You have been a great friend this year. Don't forget the old days. I'll be back sept. 1st for a blast. Good luck

Love,
Karen
